

Dr McLoughlin, a coroner, was so shocked by the circumstances surrounding the death of a Galway schoolboy that he has called for building every site to be inspected immediately.

Liam Tyrell was only 18 years when he died after being suffocated by carbon monoxide fumes that came from a generator.

The machine was used to heat an unfinished house on a building site. The Leaving Cert student had only taken up work as a night-watchman the day before.

Owner

His employer. Billy Cleary, the owner of K Security, did not even know the boy's surname or his address. He had picked him up at mid-aight and brought him to the site

Generators are not supposed to be used inside buildings but under cross-examination. Cleary admitted it had

A NEW study by the respiratory unit at Dublin's

Tallaght hospital

shows how asthma accounts for almost a quarter

One of doctors responsible for the report Dr. Stephen Lane said Astinma has risen fourfold in the last

now as the fourth high-est prevalence in the

Zealand and the UK

Cities

common in working class areas especially in the inner cities.

A number of doctors in the inner city have indicated that the huge

increase on traffic has contributed to a growing number of suffer-

Asthma is highly

Asthma is also more

orid preceded by ustralia New

years and Ireland

of GP referrals

the 25 nord

ers

Left short of breath by

Celtic tiger

been used like this for Ciaran several months.,

The coroner pointed out that every building site needed proper lighting, heating, first-aid equipment and safety training for workers.

But all of that might cut into the profits of like companies K Security and the building

IRISH TAX payers face another multimillion pound bill from the EU because of a scam run on the two main toll roads.

The toll companies were supposed to pay VAT on their charges but since 1987 they never did. National Toll Roads is owned by the Roche fam-ily. who are deep to ily who are close to Fianna Fail.

They are also increas-ing their charges by 21 percent even though prof-its for the first six months of 1999 jumped by 38 percent.

under-treated condition and many doctors have expressed con-cern about the fact that much of this is due to the fact that the Government's drug budgeting scheme, which allows families a maximum of £42 each week, is insufficient to cover the cost of drugs

GM

's own staff can-

teen has banned

genetically modi-

British headquar-

took the decision

"in response to

concerns raised

by our customers".

fied (GM) food.

Canteen man-

Monsanto's

ters said they

agers at

GIANT

Monsanto

and inhalers.

North Kerry Fianna Fail TD been has exposed as one of the Ansbacher

DENIS FOLEY the

gang. Foley still has £130,000 in the dodgy

Yet he was one of the TDs who was in charge of investigating the mas-sive tax scam by the banks. The report into the DIRT scam which he co-wrote said that the politi-cians did not turn a blind eve.

Scams

Peter Sutherland was chairman of AIB when the tax scams took place. He was also a political advisor to the Fine Gael leader John Bruton and is a former Attorney General — the top legal officer in the country. He has also been revealed as one of the Ansbacher one of Haughey's closest collegues. He still makes the state, including the Revenue Comissioners.

Nothing

Ahern claims that he knew nothing abou Foley's Ansbacher links. about But Ahern also turned Ansbacher accounts. John Finnegan the Dublin Estate Agent, had £2 million in Des Traynor's dodgy bank. Finnegan has a long relationship with Ahara relationship with Ahern and regularly attends Bertie's £2,000 a head

RONAN KEANE, husband of the infamous Terry Keane has just the

of the Dail

annual fund-raising bash.

Finnegan arranged the purchase of Ahern's Drumcondra home, which the local party branch bought as a pre-sent

But Ahern may not have to worry. The judge who is supposed to be investigating the scam used to own shares in the CRH company which provided an office for the Ansbacher accounts.

Justice for

Belmondo

Wantete

Victim of Garda

Harassment

demonstrate at

the Four Courts No.24, February

28th, Assemble

10am

sent.

Keane has been her-alded as a 'liberal' with one of the country's finest legal mind by the media.

Yet he presided over the Stardust Inquiry into the horrific fire which Paul O Sullivan has left his job saw scores of people burned to death because of inadequate safety pre-cautions and failed to firm is run by Jackle Gallagher, who

tion of the owners. In a recent tell-all orchestrated his appoint-ment to the High Court.

C

heckling left-wing speak-

the newly appointed President of the High the Court. According to the Sunday Business Post, Hardiman has a reputation as a notorious con-

In his student days he araded around UCD

recommend the prosecu-

book Terry Keane even admitted that Haughey Adrian Hardiman is a servative.

Paul O Sullivan has left his job

to Join a Public Relations firm.

O Sullivan was once seen as a

Keane ers

He is a founder member of the Progressive Democrats (PD's) and Justices?

with Mary Harney. The new judges will earn enormously salaries. The new Chief Justice,

has spent his holidays

Ronan Keane, and the Chief of the High Court will get £109, 560 and £98, 657 respectively. Their working conditions aren't bad either. The room which is lined with books comes readily equipped with a leather-topped desk and a tive contracts to privatise state assets. Denis O'Brien made almost a quarter of a billion after he sold ESAT because the Fine Gael - Labour coalition governments sold

Foley

O'Brien was a major financial contributor to Fine Gael.

drinks trolley. social real Dartners

was a close aid of Bertie Ahern.

Meanwhile, only a tiny number of SIPTU members are left at Ryanair after O Sullivan and Geraghty managed to snatch defeat from the jaws of victory.

been appointed Chief Justice of Supreme Court. Like most of the judi-ciary in Ireland he comes from the ranks of the state's most illustrious private schools; he was a pupil of Blackrock col-lege. Liberal gang. Foley used to run dances for hotels owned by property shark John Byrne, Byrne, another Ansbacher depositor was millions of pounds out of the rents he receives from a blind eye when he received money from another the businessmen who hid money in the bosses.

Privateers plan to steal the ESB The Huntstown Power consortium head-IT SEEMS the government's next target for privatisation is the ESB. Deregulation of the electricity markets is set to begin on February 19.

Once again the winners will be big busi-ness The 320 major industrial users of power will see their electricity cost slashed but ordinary household users will reap little benefit.

In fact they can expect to see prices rise as the cost of price cutting industrial power will fall on their shoulders.

ed by Michael McKernan is one of the main players behind the push for privatisation and has demanded that the ESB surrender its control of the national grid.

Firm

Huntstowm Power is comprised of the Northern Ireland electricity firm Viridian and the building material firm CRH. CRH was the company that effectively ran the Ansbacher tax scam for the rich in Another Ansbacher Crook:

Throw Foley out

Privatisation is all about giving the rich : license to print money. Businessmen like Haughey's friend Dermot Desmond and oth ers have made a fortune by winning lucra him the rights to telecommunications for a measly £16 million.

NO TO THE NEW PARTNERSHIP : 5% 0 e

A NEW partnership deal is set to offer workers only a 5 percent pay rise for each of the next three years. The press are pretending that this is а very generous offer.

But media moguls like Tony O'Reilly, who owns most of the newspapers. how pay rises. The reality is that 5 percent a year is a miserable pay rise.

Soared

House prices have pared across the Celtic Tiger and many young workers are already lumbered with mortgages of £600 a month and upwards.

Rents have also risen sharply as the government has dismissed all calls to has introduce rent controls. This pay rise will barely make a dent in these huge housing costs. But more bad news lies around the corner. The decline of the euro and the volatility of the US economy means that inter-est rates are set to rise worldwide. This will mean huge hikes in mortgages and rent.

A one percent rise in interest rates, for example, would mean an extra £50 a month repayment on the average mortgage. Ireland already has the highest inflation rate in Europe. Officially it is running at 3.9 percent a year but this is an underestimate. Inflation rates across Europe are set rise, due to Europe are set lise, due to escalating oil prices. This will push up Irish prices even further so work-ers will start falling behind again. A concerted attempt is being made by the media, the government and the union officials to con workers into accepting this pay deal. They want to keep trade unionists quiet for another three years.

But pay is the only item that is controlled in the Celtic Tiger. Profits, divi-dends and prices can soar but the income of workers has been restrained for over

Workers should have the right to bargain for the high-est wage rise they can get. There should be no restraint on when they make claims. The union leaders should also be told that their job is to represent their members -

and not to act as policemen

e price SHILL Se.

over them.

PRICES RISES are supposed to be measured by the Consumer Price Index. But the CPI is a con.

* It does not include the rise in house prices. An explanatory leaflet from the Central Statistics Office even claimed that there is no contradiction between rising house prices and low inflation'.

* it underestimates the rise in rents. Newspapers count for as much in the inflation index as rents.

It does not take full account of changing spending patterns. With more women working outside the home, workers spend more on pre-cooked meals, restaurants and canteens. But little account is taken of this

This all means that the real rate of inflation is well above 5 percent a year.

ROBBED BY PARTNERSHIP: How the national income is "shared" 1987 1992 1997 41% 36% 31% PROFITS 59% 69% 64% WAGES

IRISH WORKERS have been chained to miserable pay rises for the past decade while the economy has been booming. Instead of wage restraint — it should be pay back time for workers.

If the farmers could take on the meat barons and win, then the union leaders can take on big business.

They are making such huge profits that they can pay far more than 5 percent.

US multi-nationals claim they are making a 25 percent rate of profit in Ireland. That is three times that for Spain. Irish firms have also seen their profits nearly double as a percentage of sales.

The AIB, which was one of the main banks involved in the DIRT scandal, saw its profits rise by 61 percent a year in the last decade.

Create

The productivity of Irish workers has also helped to create the boom. But they have not been rewarded for working harder and more efficiently.

One business journalist estimated that the net output of each employee increased by over £97,000 in the ten years between 1987 and 1997.

With growing labour shortages, trade unionists are in a strong position to win double figure pay rises for this year.

That is why we should throw off the chains of social partnership. The bosses have never been our partners. Our only partners are our fellow workers. Workers should:

Vote NO to the Pay deal

Put in catch-up claims for 20 percent pay rises.

0

THE GOVERNMENT are already claiming that a package of tax cuts will compensate workers for the low increases.

But this is nonsense.

Share owners got a 50 percent cut in tax on dividends. But they were never asked to tighten their belts.

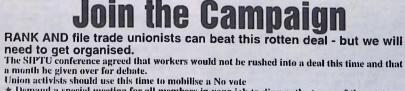

Big farmers won a 90 percent reduc-90 percent reduc-tion on their inher-itance taxes. But they never had to show restraint.

The banks and big business will get a tax rate of only 12.5 percent.. But their profits were never pegged to a rise 5 percent a year. If no other class in Irish of 5 society had to make sacrifices to get tax cuts, then why should PAYE workers sacrifice their wages?

Get active with the campaign in your union. ★ SIPTU against Partnership meets on Saturdays afternoons in Chaplin's Pub, Hawkins St Phone: 8558087 * Teachers Against Partnership Phone 4732425 ★ IMPACT Against Partnership meets Thursday February 10th Trinity Inn Pearse Street Phone: 2861902 * Busworkers Against Partnership: Phone 4561802

* Demand a special meeting for all members in your job to discuss the terms of the partner-

Pin this on your noticeboard

 * Insist that union meetings get a speaker from the Campaign Against Partnership so that an alternative viewpoint is heard. * Order leaflets and poster from the Campaign Against Partnership, 105 O'Hogan Road

Dublin 10.

Ecuador -

Uprising of the 1255 PS Germany -

SOUTH American country of Ecuador is in turmoil after the president was toppled in a confused coup that occurred amid mass protests by the poor.

The protests were backed by students and teachers. Oil workers strack and demonstrations in several cities called for the overthrow of the government.

Protests

The President Munan dismissed his entire cabinet in an attempt to stop the intern. Army chiefs The President Mahuad protests. Army chiefs unleashed 30,000 troops onto the streets to counter demonstrators. Bis they were unable to hold back the tide of anger. The demonstrations and strikes culminated in a popular rising against the govern-ment. But fortunately the leaders of the rising made the fatal mistake of looking to a section of the military for Support

So although Mahuad was forced to quit, the new gov-ernment is in the hands of the stood behind him. Mahuad wanted to make the poor pay for Ecuador's profound economic crisis.

nomic crisis. Ecuador had one of the most unequal income distrib-utions in the world, and 60 percent of people were mady on or below the offi-cial poverty line before Mahuad's measures. Half the country's popu-tion are descendants of the results who lived in the people who lived in the country before the 16th cen-tury Spanish conquest. They

India -

"STRIKE FEVER" is gripping the assorting to the country's one assorting to the country's of the second of the second of the trike by 100,000 power workers of the by 100,000 power workers of

are mostly peasants living in the Andean highland area in the Andean highland area in dire poverty. Their Quechua language is discriminated against by those at the top of Ecuadorian society. The cities, such as the capital, Quito, and the main industrial centre of Guayaquil, are surrounded by vast shanty towns where the Spanish speaking, but mul-tiracial, urban poor live in miserable conditions. Ecuador's debt burden is equivalent to its entire annual eculator's debt burden is equivalent to its entire annual economic output. Economic output has shrunk by over 7 percent in the last year and the poor have suffered as inflation has rocketed to 60 percent. The madness of the world market has fuelled the crisis. It has hit the prices of key export commodities commodities such as shrimps, timber and bananas. The government's response was to push through austerity measures which will further such as measures which will further impoverish the mass of peo-ple while protecting the rich. A key plank of the gov-ermment plan was to abandon the country's currency, the sucre, and switch instead to the US dollar. The wealthy, with money held in dollars outside the country, would not suffer under this. But it threatened to wipe out savings held inside the country, and also to push up prices of many basic commodities.

Riots ended up with a lamp." Riots exploded in the country's biggest city and similar mass protests hit other low aiting such as Pito

other key cities such as Rio other key cities such as Rio Bamba and Ambato. One protester summed up the mood: "The generals and the admirals have betrayed us. It's not them who feel hunger. We've shown we are strong and we'll learn. We put too much confidence in the military and they've conned the people." People will have to look to mass action if the hunger for change is to have any chance of being realised.

A THREE man junta, cona former supreme court judge and a key indigenous leader, took power on the back of took power on the back of the mass protests. But within hours military chiefs, with backing from the bulk of the armed forces, the rich and the US govern-ment, sidelined that junta. They installed a new government under Mahuad's vice-president, Gustavo Noboa He announced he vice-president, Gustavo Noboa. He announced he would continue with the state of emergency declared by Mahuad. He pledged to continue with the currency plan and with privatisation. The move left the mass of people furiously disappoint-ed.

One protester when leavmy to the global market. The government called in the army and the navy to run the ports and power installations. Union lead-ers have been arrested, as have thousands of striking power work-thousands of striking points ars. Negotiations with union leaders halted the dock workers' strike but the docks were decked out with red flags and manned by pickots, while jeeps and cars with red flags sruised up and down the dock area. The dockers wanted a 100 per-cept pay rise.

The dockers wanted a 100 per-cent pay rise. They are also worried about the government's plans to "modernise" the ports by using private capital, which may eventually lead to pri-vatisation.

life better for ordinary peo-

as Worker

cians can get a hearing as mainstream governments, of various stripes, fail to make life better for ordinary peo-ple across Europe. A coalition government of the (Tory) People's Party and the Social Democratic Party, which is equivalent to the Labour Party governed Austria for 13 years. Haider has been able to build on resentment at the attacks the government has launched on working peo-ple, and the corruption which sees plum state jobs going to supporters of the which sees plum state jobs going to supporters of the two main parties. There is a sharp divide between rich and poor inside Austria's population of eight million. All the political par-ties support further privati-sation and moves towards a more free-market economy. These policies of the "grand coalition" provided the fertile ground for Haider to build.

to build. But there are weaknesses in the growth of the far right. Exit polls show that two thirds of those who voted for Haider put disillusionment with the two main parties as their main reason for doing so — not agreement with his racist immigration and welfare policies.

His success, however, gives confidence to racist thugs and can push main-stream parties to echo his attacks on immigrants.

Nazi

Haider has not built the kind of street-fighting force which was at the core of Hitler's Nazi Party and a central feature of Le Pen's National Front in France. His aim is to form a far His aim is to form a far His aim is to form a far right parliamentary govern-ment. But elements within the Freedom Party and Nazi groups want to build a movement to smash work-ing class organisation and all forms of democracy in the way Hitler did.

They want to forcibl repatriate and even exterm nate immigrants. Haider's guarded prais for some of Hitler's policie shows he is quite capable of adopting Hitler's methods he feels his path to pow-through the ballot box blocked.

Haider can be stoppe. Last year over 50,000 per ple marched in Vienna protest at Haider. There have also bee numerous protests again education and welfare cu in recent years. The new that Haider may enter go ernment was met wi ernment was met wi protests around the country

These responses point a collective socialist altern tive to the grand coalition and the potential to build mass movement to confro Haider.

A member of the SWP's sister organisation on a demonstration in Hamburg against the corruption scandals that have rocked Germany's right wing Christian Democratic Party. It has been revealed that that Helmut Kohl took millions of pounds in bribes from big business.

Just like Fianna Fail, Germany's main right wing party, the CDU, uses bribes to prop up a corrupt system.

Austria Haider can be stopped

AUSTRIA'S extreme right wing Freedom Party, looked set to enter into a coalition government Socialist

Went to press. The party won 27 pcr-cent of the vote in Austria's general election last year. The scapegoating of immi-grants was at the centre of their campaign. Their leader, Jorg Haider, deliberately unbrach the lea

Their leader, Jorg Haider, deliberately echoed the lan-guage of Hitler's Nazi party in the 1930s. Haider has praised the "orderly employ-ment policies of the Third Reich" and refers to former members of the SS as "decent fellows".

His electoral success is a warning of how racist politi-

Eamonn McCann hink tanks A THOUSAND days of Tony Blair and we still have no more idea what's going on in his head than we have of the meaning of the Millennium Dome.

What we do have is a clear record of betrayal even of the limited expectations of the vot-ers who rejoiced on May 1st 1997 that "things can only get better". But for millions who can only get better". But for millions who did vote Labour things havn't got better. Nebcdy any longer denies the wide-support for Ken Livingstone in London, in angry reaction to Jack Straw's U-turn on Pinochet, in the popularity of protests over everything from under-unding in the NHS to the machinations of the World Trade Organisation. But to what extent does Blair himself believe his government has failen short of its objectives? Even his closest media supporters have difficulty making the measurement, because after 1,000 days in office the principles Blair stands for are more elusive than ever.

Defenders

One of his strongest defenders, former independent editor Andrew Marr, now an Observer columnist, mused a couple of weeks back on the dis-tinguished Friends of Tony who have recently proven less than loyal, then ended with a wondering sigh: Just what, exactly, would they be expected to show peaker to? loya

Marr. exasperated. urged Blair "to be more ideological, clearer about the principles upon which his Government rests." But that merely shifts the problem onto a higher plateau: it begs the question. what are(Ital.) the principles, exact-iy, upon which the Blair Government rests? Searching around for a model for his "New

Any upon which the Blar Government rests? Searching around for a model for his "New Brian" Blar has, at various times, pointed to Swedish social democracy, regenerated Germany, includive Japan and the rapid-growth "Tiger" economies of Asia. But, as some of these go belly-up, and others sink ever deeper into sleaze, not much is heard of any of them any more as para-

d oms for progress. Short y before his May 1997 election, Blair deliv-ered a speech in Singapore which had been widely trailered as an authoritative exposition of his political on becomy. The headline phrase to emerge was "the philosophy. The headline phrase to emerge was "the stakeno der society". But soarce had the chatterati of north London crouched around their stripped-pine tables to ponder the meaning of this slogan than Blair had ditched it, and was off, scampering along "The Third Way". The Third Way, a galaxy of New Labour gurus made clear, was not the same thing as The Middle Way, a moth-eaten concept with no place in the bright hi-tech future envisioned by Blair. Which at least let us know what it wasn't.

Actually

But as to what it actually was, nobody knows, even now. (We do know where it led us—along cor-neors lined with NHS patients twitching with pain.)

Che man who ought to know what it's all about is Charles Leadbeater, a big wheel in the new Labour Innk-tank, Demos, and, according to reliable Blair's favourite thinker. Old-fashioned detools had their own food-tasters. New-fangled actoriats have personal trainers. Tony Blair has his own personal thinker.

Com personal thinker. Those wishing to delve deep into the contents of Biair's favourite mind should read Leadbeater's latest book, "Living on Thin Air". (People who live on thin air are called "breathar-ians". The most famous breatharian ever was a German nun, Terese Neumann, who neither ate nor drank from 1927 until 1952 when she died, rather spolling the effect.) The late Pope Plus XII firmly believed in her.

As with Plus, so with Blair. He firmly believes in the man who believes in living on thin air, and pro-claims his belief in tones of infallibility.

claims his belief in tones of infalibility. Empticess, irrationality and arrogance are the hallmarks of their thinking Blair, after a thousand days, is revealed as a man who believes in nothing surrounded by people who'll affect to believe in any-thing. A perfect combination, some might think, for idea-impoverished Labourism at the lag-end of the century just past. But not much use for the century ahead.

THE ASSEMBL GRAVY TRA

voting them-AFTER selves a huge pay rise before Xmas, the new members of the Assembly are planning to award themselves a pension of £30,000.

These massive increases come at the same time as Tony Blair froze the minimum wage at £3.60 an hour earlier this month.

The very first decision of the new Assembly last November was to vote themselves a pay rise of more than 30 percent.

Gerry Adams made a very popular speech during the debate about the pay rise last year. But Sinn Fein's Alex Maskey and Francie Molloy still voted in the committee to back the pay rise.

The basic salary for Member of the Legislative Assembly (MLA) went up from £29,036 to £38,036. But for many of them the salaries are even higher.

Extra

David Trimble and Seamus Mallon get a massive £102,344 each. Both of them are also MPs at Westminster and get an extra £40,000 on top.

And all of this is just their basic salary. On top of this they get thousands in expenses to run their own offices and employ advisors. Last week it

Poverty

NEW report by the Chief Medical Officer last week revealed that peo-ple in the most deprived areas of the North:

★ Die on average seven and a half years earlier.

* The infant mortality rate is 50 percent higher

* Poor children are seven times more likely to die in a traffic accident. The report shows that the single biggest cause of ill health is poverty. It estimates that 2,000 lives a year could be saved if the gap in health status between rich and poor was addressed. The surest way to address that trough. gap is to increase wages and when the results of the KIIS Each year, over 70 percent of 11 year old children are told that they have failed the exam. Education Minister, Sinn Fein's Martin McGuiness, himself a vicimprove pensions and benefits. But this month Blair froze the minimum Trimble: Loaded?

at Stormont.

stand down

Britain.

reported that over £500,000 has already been spent on advisors

And now, to add insult to injury.

the Finance and Personnel Committee, headed by Minister Mark Durkan, is discussing plans to give a £30,000 handout to any MLA

who loses their seat or decides to members are an outrage at a time when the gap between rich

and poor is even wider than in

The salaries of the Assembly wage at £3.60 an hour. Yet a third of workers in Northern Ireland are earning less than £4 an hour. The Assembly could do something to start changing that.

It could fight for a higher minimum wage. It could argue for higher taxes on the rich to pay for a better health service and social security system that their job is to help out big business.

to stick their own snouts in the

In the meantime they are happy

But most of its members believe for a report by Queens University academics, due out in mid-February. Rotten

> Secretary of the Campaign Against Selection, Belfast teacher John Price, told Socialist Worker, The 11-plus system is rotten to the core. Children don't fail it - it fails them."

call a mass demonstration to Stormont in May,

tim of the 11-plus, has said that he is against the exam but is waiting 11- plus arrive.

Activists aren't pinning all their hopes on the Assembly because McGuiness appears to be worried about upsetting the Catholic and Protestant middle classes who

Teachers campaign against the 11-plus CAMPAIGN THE support the retention of grammar schools. against the 11-plus in Northern Ireland is gathering momentum. The main teaching union in Belfast, the NASUWT, has voted to John continued, "In my schoo alone over 100 teachers have joined the campaign. We want everybody, parents, trade union-ists, students involved in this.

"The 11 plus comes into the public domain at this time every year and then it slips away again. People's hopes have been raised because of the Assembly. We need to build a big grassroots campaign that can guarantee that we finally get rid of it this year."

Campaign Against Selection Public meeting: 8pm Tuesday 15 February Senior Library, St Louise's Comprehensive College, Falls Road 'Come and help build opposition to educational apartheid

All welcome

To get copies of the petition or add your name to the list of sponsors contact John Price, Secretary CSA, 1 Woodland Park North, Lisburn or phone (01846 660011)

ER TIME FOR WORKERS' RIGHTS DEMONSTRATION Let's tell New Labour and the Assembly Scrap the 11-plus • 5 an hour minimum wage Abolish student fees • Fund the NHS - tax the rich Increase benefits and pensions

DERRY Saturday 11 March 1pm from the Triangle, Waterside, march to Guildhall Square Called by Derry Trades Council and backed by trade unions and community groups

Eye witness report UN lets down people of E. Timor

ties for rebuilding the

the for rebuilding the country. Four months later, when I returned to Timor I saw how little has been done. Children are dying because of inappropriate medicines prescribed by the UN.

presented by the UN. The crazy UN approach can be seen with spending money on floating hotels for UN officials to stay. They exclude East Timorese people from work in UN pro-grammes. During the

During the Indonesian occupation around 30,000 East Timorese worked in the DINO GANDARA is a student of cience student studying in Dublin who has just returned to Ineland following a visit to his native East Timor. It had been his first visit in 7 years. Niall Smyth spake to him about the situation in East Timor and the UN involvement.

*IT WAS not until the massive revolt in Indonesia and the toppling of the Suharto regime in Indonesia, that things really began to change in East Timor.

This action by the Indonesian students gave the vast under-ground clundestine resistance movements courage to come out onto the street and fight for independence. Shortly after

Habibi, came to power in November 1998, it announced that a referendum would take place to decide the future of East Timor ater in 1999

Vicious

Following the the nesian military in Timor began setting up these rathless, vicious militias to intimidate and scare the people of East Timor to vote against independence.

Timor to vote against independence. In the spring, the UN entened the country to manage and educate people on the referen-dum, This is what they called 'copular consulta-tion'. But, security in East Timor remained in the hands of the Indonesian military. 99 percent of people registered to vote and 97.8 percent actually voted. The militias con-tinued to attack and during the voting. The result was that 78.5 per-dence and 21 percent against. Afterwards, there

Atterwards, there were massacres. I would say about 1,000 people died directly afterwards and it got worse and and it got worse and worse as time went on. The UN then fled despite promising the people they would remain regardless of the referen-dum's outcome. This was the beginning of the hypocrisy of UN involve-ment in East Timor. In Sentember 1000

In September 1999, UN troops entered East Timor. People were glad to see them at first, as many had been killed. They promised to provide of the necessi-

want to return to school and learn but there are facilities there for them Since the transition period began, the UN wanted to establish the period US dollar as the official currency. At the moment the

At the moment the Indonesian rupiah, the Australian dollar and the Portuguese escudo are the main currencies being used in the country It has also made It has also made English a requirement for employment, even though only a minority speaks the language. It seems that the UN and the NGOs in East Timor are more con-cerned with facilitating and promoting Western business inter-ests, rather than the needs of the people. If the UN believes that East Timorese peo-ple have the right to self-determination as human determination as human beings, they have to include the people themselves.

Timorese worked in the civil service, but now that the UN run the country only 2,000 are e m p l o y e d . Unemployment is at about 90 percent. The standard East Timorese wage is S5 a day and S8 if you are really lucky. In December there was a strike in the country by Harassment They don't cooperate with local people and some Australian UN troops have been troops have been involved in the sexual harassment of East involved in the sexual harassment of East Timorese girls. People's lives are worse than ever now. People are extremely dissatisfied and frustratstrike in the country by workers at the small ages they receive. The UN workers are wining and dining with the Australian and Western bankers and University, while the businesses, while the people after from lack of food.

in East Timor

of ford. The people have been stripped base and there is real tack of food and bouing which the UN is not halping. When I returned, my bases had been destroyed. Students pend ac from Italeas in over but the fight for a decent stan-dard of living contin-

ed with all of this. Already, there has been action with 8,000 indents demonstrating out de a UN building and soning it. The straggle for inde-pendence to too

MUMIA MUST LIVE! he voi CA tf es ou

IN JUST over four weeks time a US judge will begin considering whether radical black journalist Mumia Abu-Jamal will be put to death or will be granted a retrial. Mumia, a former Black Panther, was framed for murder has been on death row for 17 years. During the 1970s Mumia, a found-ing member of the Black Panther Party in Philadelpheia at the age of 15, became a journalist for Philadelphia's local radio station and was dubbed the "voice of the voiceless" because of the way he spoke about those marginalised by US soci-fired him. That is why Mumia was driving a taxi on the night of 9 December 1981. Mumia stopped his car when he saw police assaulting a black man, who turned out to be his own brother. Eyewitnesses say one officer was shot by another unidentified man who then fled the scene. Before he died the police officer shot Mumia. Mumia was then beaten and framed for the murder by other police officers. other police officers.

When he condemned a police assault on the radical black organisation MOVE's headquarters in 1978, an attack that left 18 people wounded, the radio station fired him.

The police's chief witness was prosti-tute Cynthia White. She was the only wit-

THE POOR STILL SUFFER

FOR MILLIONS of poor people in America, poverty is their daily reality. Homelessness isn't a thing of the past, it is an enduring burden upon the spirit.

In the ongoing War Against In the ongoing War Against the Poor that is politically popu-lar in America today, the poor are getting truly poorer and the rich are getting it all. There are jobs out there, but at levels that barely approach subsis-tence. Capital is strengthened, labour is weakened and the poor are simply crushed, expendable. This then is Clinton's gift to the poor. Clinton's gift to the poor. There are jobs out weatth, and it's in their interest to keep labour in con-stant terror of starvation. Tor millions of people in America the rising of the Dow Jones Average, the stocks and bound vol-sion interest to keep labour in con-stant terror of starvation. Tor millions of people in America the rising of the Dow Jones Average, the stocks and hound vol-sion interest to keep labour in con-tions increasing the raging matches interest to the stocks and bound stocks into an exist to nothing at all. The bound to hous and fingal exist-tions hous to nonrow will be hel-ter than the helfich yesterday."

November 1998

ness who claimed to see Mumia with a gun in his hand. A friend of White's later testified that they were both offered deals by the police in exchange for their story. Another witness, a prostitute Veronica Jones, testified that the police threatened to take away her children unless she iden-tified Mumia as the killer. The bullets that shot the nolice officer do not even match shot the police officer do not even match those of Mumia's gun. All but two mem-bers of the jury who convicted Mumia white were white. The judge who presided over the trial was Albert Sabo, a lifetime member of the Fratemal Order of Police. He is known as a racist hanging judge. Sabo has sentenced 32 people to death - twice as many as any other judge in the US. All bar two have been black. To understand why the police and the

To understand why the police and the US state hate Mumia, all you need to do is read his words.

"ONCE AGAIN we are in the maw of war. The deaths of Iraqi maw of war. The deaths of Iraqi we composed to the two western industry. Is there some-bustern industry. Is there some-thing obscene here." Marrican politicians and their Respectively of the respectively of the two collateral damage" on TV, as if they are talking about washing distance, not the two two the two the two ceaths of babies.

Once more into the breach-for

February 1998

WHY A WAR ON THE POOR?

SEVERAL WEEKS French unemployed took to ago the streets nationally, rock-ing the neo-liberal establish-ment with a wave of militant demonstrations.

This remarkable mobilisation showed the power of a movement of unemployed, that beat back the state's attempts to cut back on French income maintenance programmes.

That movement leaped across the That movement leaped across the border to Germany, where marches spring up in over 200 cities. We can learn from the French who did not hesitate to organise and mobilise the poor and unemployed. The slogan of the French bears repeating: "Who sows misery, reaps rage." The politicians ain't the solution-the people are. Let us organise."

"THE VERY term "international law" evokes in us a sense of calm, arising from the near certainty that an umbrella of law shields and protections of the sense. protects us from the raging downpour of chaos.

HEIL

3

So often have we heard the work, that it now echoes inconsciousness, as a this work.

that it now echoes inconsciousness as a thing unquestioned. The late revered Malcolm X sught that history is best equipped to reward our research, so let us look to history. Over a million ethnic Armenians were annihilated under Turkey's lithad Pary under Germany's Nazi Party. These historic horrors arose in a world where the Geneva Conventions (of 1864 and 1906) and the Hague Conventions (of 1899 and 1907) forbade war crime, pro-tected the prisoners of war, and ordered protection and respect for civilians and private property.

Internatio creation of behalf of e "stateless pt War Two o One) were si ests of the who saw the In the en written on pa

Must Liv

R" Williar 20th Str demonst

E of the struggle it from death row US OUT OF YUGOSLAVIA!

American empire.

century.

Wall Street.

ILLUSION OF

"internaokes in us a arising from ainty that an w shields and om the raging

e heard the words. inconsciousness.

oned. X taught Malcolm X taught pupped to reward our pupped to reward our built of history. hnic Amenians were hnic Amenians were urkey's (tribud Paris) urkey's massages of war, and o

I law, it turns out, is the American baw, it turns out, is the meruling class elites, on Millions of so-called content of the set of World American of World War International inter-International Community' International Community'

International law bowed to national (eco-nomic) interests, and the weak fell before

Here was the grim historical blueprint for Bosnia, for Rwanda, and for genocides to come."

May 1988

HOW YOU CAN HELP

Rush letter, demanding a retrial to Judge William H Yohn Jr. c/o Leonard Weinglass, 6 West 20th Street, Suite 10a, New York, NY 10011, U.S.
Book transport and build for the national emonstration to save Mumia's life.

Organise local petitioning and campaigning retings

For more information contact the Mumla Must Live! Campaign on 91-8788170

scripted treaties. in books. nor

Sat 4

Mumia was a member of the the Black Panthers

PRIVILEGE OF EMPIRE

lish a New World Order.

"WITH THE dissolution of the Soviet Union in December 1991,

there is only one real superpower left in the world, and superpowers make their own rules. Who's to stop them?

In an age of the American empire entire world is open to US the exploitation. As in 1986 Libya or 1983 Grenada (when US forces bombed and invaded,

Nothing quite cures the political ail-ments of an embattled presidential administration like the rocket's red glare, preferably against a brown or a black nation

In the nauseous throes of L'affaire Lewinsky, the prospect of bombing African and Afghan sites must've seemed attractive indeed."

arch

August 1998

National demonstration

American Embassy, Ballsbridge, assemble 1pm

"OVER 500 years after European conquest of the Americas, the native indigenous peoples still live on the margins of society and are the poorest of the poor, the people most dispos-sessed of so-called "New World" populations.

ZAPATISTA

Many of us forget that so-called "Indians", not Africans, were the first slaves of the Americas, pressed into service by Admiral Cristobal Colon (known to the Americans as Christopher Columbus) to dig for gold, and if felt they were unproductive, their hands were chouned off hands were chopped off.

This Columbian injustice was the opening which brought genocide to untold millions of natives and transformed an ancient Indian world into "New" white one

Every country in this hemisphere rests upon the shattered bones of native genocide.

DREAMS

In the southernmost "kneecap" of Mexico, in Chiapas state, an indigenous revolutionary movement is growing.

Named after the Indian revolutionary Emiliano Zapata (1879-1919), whose forces fought the Spanish dictator Porfirio Diaz under the slogan Liberty and Land, the Zapatistas draw their strength and their vision from the most oppressed segments of Mexican life.

That they exist is something of a miracle, and they bring something to life's table that is wonderful."

May 1997

New biography reveals...

TE chose Tony O'Reilly to talk to Tony Pat Kenny about life of Peadar the O'Donnell on the publication of a new biography by Peter Hegarty. While O'Reilly went to school with O'Donnell's son and spent time in his house there could be nobody less qualified to pay tribute to O'Donnell's

Peadar G Donnell was a revolutionary, socialisi, republican, novel-ist and journalist. He spent his life fighting against capitalism. He was born and educated in Meenanote. Dungloe, County Donegal before going to study to become a teacher in Dublin. He taught on Arranmore Island before leaving for Scotland to assist migrant labourers in their strike for Transport & General Workers' Union in 1918 and spent time Union in 1918 and specific recruiting workers in Northern Ireland to the union. During the Ireland to the beneficience (1919-Insh War of Independence (1919-1921). O Donnell fought with the IRA leading a brigade in his native county.

nlike other republicans, he took an active interest in workers struggles. On one occasion, he led the occupation of an asylum in Monaghan.

The asylum was taken over by both Catholic and Protestant

The Dundalk Democrat remind-ed its readers "We know what the flag has stood for - in Paris of the Commune, in Russia, and Berlin two weeks ago." Over 125 armed police surrounded the asylum to lay insert to it. But the threat of a generlege to it. But the threat of a general strike in the town forced them to back down and the occupation was with massively improved con-ditions for workers and patients.

O'Donnell was frustrated with the way the labour leaders were standing aside from the Black and

Tan war. He condemned the conservatism of the labour movement: "Nobody noticed that Connolly's chair was left vacant; that the place Connolly purchased for the organised Labour movement in the leadership of the independence struggle was being denied or renewed denied or reneged. It was made easy for De Valerato call Griffith in and shut Labour out, for the Irish Labour Party did not want a share in the leadership. James Connolly's work, teaching, and martyrdom, left no imprint on the policy of Irish working class anothements. Dublin workers uncovered at every mention of his name at a meeting but nobody preached Consolity to them."

Obnnell opposed the Treaty of December 1921, and in January of the fol-lowing year he joined a group, led by the Irish novelist Liam O'Flaherty, which occupied the which occupied Rotunda in Dublin. the Flying the red flag and calling for the establishment of a Workers Socialist Republic, the occupation ended after four days when they were evicted by Free State Forces. In April 1922, O'Donnell was a member of the IRA garrison that took over the Four Courts in Dublin.

Peadar O'Do

Arrested the following June when the building was attacked by Free State troops, he spent most of the civil war in jail where he wrote his first novel 'Storm'.

O'Donnell attempted during the late 1920's and early "30s to direct the energies of the IRA towards socialist republicanism. During this period, O'Donnell organised the campaign against payment of Land Annuities to the English exchequer.

The strength of the campaign forced de Valera to take up the issue and allowed him to gain a veneer of radicalism.

In September 1931, O'Donnell was a founder member of the socialist-republican group, Saor Eire. This was composed of IRA members who had the aim of overthrowing "British Imperialism and its ally, capitalism" in Ireland.

The organisation was banned and O'Donnell was subject to unprecedented attacks from the Catholic hierarchy. A special book "Could Ireland Become Communist?" was written by James Hogan to stir up an anti-left witch hunt. Most of the information in it came from Special Branch files and the tone was hysterical. It argued that O'Donnell was leading a plot to destroy Catholicism in Ireland and had learnt "church burning in Rome" aced with these attacks from the Bishops, the IRA leadership disowned Saor Elre. O'Donnell then set up the Republican Congress. It gained impressive support from workers and soon had between 6,000 and ten thousand members. Fourteen trade unions and trade councils were represented at its first conference.

O'Donnell set about organising workers in Northern Ireland and the group recruited a number of Protestant workers, setting up branches in the Shankill and Ballymacarrett.

O'Donnell convinced a group of workers to join a banned Easter commemoration march in Belfast. "We went along until the stage where the B Specials would allow us to go no further. Then the whole republican procession flopped to its knees and began the rosary. My Orangemen could have afforded to risk getting the heads cracked with a baton, but they couldn't kneel on the streets to say the rosary." Famously, two lorry loads of

Protestant workers went to march at Bodenstown where the IRA

O'Donnell attacked them. described the events as "The Belfast fellows were taken aback when an attempt was to seize their banner. For a moment they were confused but they rallied to the defence of their banner with a slogan that never was heard at Bodenstown and probably never will be again – 'Up the Shankill Road' " Road'.

Road'. " The Congress organised strikes and housing campaigns effectively and offered the best potential to build a revolutionary party in Ireland. But there was a major political wardprose political weakness. One section of the organisation, led by James Connolly's son Roddy, and the Belfast Protestants argued that the Congress had to declare openly that they did not stand for de Valera's republic but were fighting for Workers' republic.

The majority of the Congress led by O'Donnell and the Communist Party wanted a looser alliance. They claimed that calling for a workers republic would alienate the grass roots of Fianna Fail.

As O'Donnell argued "We dare not jump through a stage in the fight, now raising the slogan of a workers republic and leaving Fianna Fail to say that they stand for one sort of a republic and we stand for a different one."

O'Donnell won the vote, but the Congress declined rapidly as it failed to offer an alternative to the populist rhetoric of FF. Crucially most of the Belfast Protestant work ers left. O'Donnell threw himself into the defence of the Republican Government in Spain. Following the outbreak of the Spanish Civil War, 1936-'39, O'Donnell helped to organise a Connolly Column' which fought in Spain. While in prison during the civil war O'Donnell had written his first novel Storm to critical acclaim and this was followed by his most famous novel Islanders in 1927 which depicts the severe poverty of the islanders on Gola Island, off the coast of Donegal, where his mother came from.

All his novels paved a road for a fiction that was rooted in the reality of Ireland rather the fantasies of the Gaelic revivalists.

Between 1946 and 1954 O'Donnell edit-ed The Bell which was the most influential literary magazine in Ireland.

It was a constant thorn in the side of official Ireland, and the one beacon against censorship in the 1950's.

In the 1950's. Throughout his long life Peadar O'Donnell espoused socialism and was an active anti-Vietnam protes-tor in the 1960's and '70's. As late as 1984 he was at the forefront of the protests against Ronald Regan's wisit to Ireland visit to Ireland. In 1918, while still a teacher, he spoke at an INTO conference: "Let us convert our schools into hotheds. where working men's interests are fostered.

"Let us fling ourselves among the most fervent social and economic revolutionists . . . If that means that the teachers of Ireland must become the teachers of treland must become rebels, because their employers hap-pen to be the state, then, in God's name, let us become rebels." It is a message Tony'O'Reilly would like to be forgotten, for O'Donnell was one of the best rebels Ireland has produced.

by SIMON BASKETTER

in my view Jack B's hidden history

IN RECENT years the artist Jack B. Yeats has come to be seen as the most important Irish artist of the twentieth century. At the London auctions his work is very much in fashion with a recent painting, Singing 'Oh, Had I the Wings of a Swallow, selling for over a million pounds.

Last March saw the opening of a new Yeats muse-

Last March saw the opening of a new reals huse-um in the National Gallery. Few self-respecting Irish institutions or millionaires seem to be without a "Yeats" adorning their walls. Yet they might be quite surprised to learn that Jack B. Yeats was something of a left-winger. Born into Anglo-Irish society, he spent much of his teenage years like his brother, the poet W. B. Yeats, in Co. Sligo. He settled in Devon and worked as an illustrator, returning to Ireland in 1910.

Drawn to nationalism and repulsed by the slaughter of the first World War, he supported the 1916 Easter Rising and War of Independence. The Treaty signed by Michael Collins and others with the British in 1921 was for Yeats a betrayal of all that was noble and pure in nationalism and he supported the anti-treaty side in the following civil war

He detested Cosgrave, the first prime minister of the Free State. Like most left-wing republicans he was again disillusioned, when de Valera became Taoiseach in the 1930s and ruthlessly turned on his own supporters and the IRA.

He was particularly horrified by the rise of fascism across Europe in the 1930s Relations with his brother, the famous poet William Butler Yeats quickly deteriorated as William flirted with fascist ideas and went on to write the anthem for the Blueshirts.

Reader

During the Spanish civil war Jack became a regular reader of The Worker (the Communist Party paper). Although Yeats was never actively involved in working class politics, a look at his paintings shows where his sympathies lie. He never painted the normal stock-in-trade of artists at the time - still lives, life drawings (nudes) and portraits. Although his father John was an acclaimed portrait painter, Yeat's only known formal portrait is of his wife

Instead his pictures and canvasses are of ordinary people — the rural and urban poor, people at markets and fairs, circuses, funerals, boxing matches, dockers at work or people on crowded trams

Even his father observed this about his son's work. "his drawings were never one of object, one person or one animal, but of groups engaged in some kind of drama.'

He loved public gatherings like races and fairs and loved to depict the vitality and energy that is the jostling mass of humanity in his work. The peo-ple in his paintings are always sympathetically drawn, often full of hope and defiance.

There is also a warm humour in his work. The won-derful Cavalier's Farewell is a deeply ironic painting he says good-bye to fairground merry-go-round horse, not a proud Arab stallion.

A number of his works are more overtly political. His painting Bachelor's Walk, in Memory shows a flower seller laying a flower in memory of those killed by British soldiers in 1912 on Bachelor's Walk.

Communicating with Prisoners depicts woman prisoners and their supporters at Kilmainham Gaol during the War of Independence. He once joked that his painting of anti-treaty leader Harry Boland's funeral was the only record of the event, as all the cameras were confiscated at the entrance to Glasnevin Cemetery.

Probably his most striking piece of work is his anti-war piece Grief that manages to capture in one striking visual image the horror and inhumanity of war.

Unlike W.B. Yeats he was not interested in cultivating artistic masks. As one critic remarked "he has the crooks and the baddies as well as the heroes". Above all his work displays a committed belief in the dignity and honesty of ordinary people.

VASCO PURSER

film 🗌 NORTHERN EXPOSURE

"WELCOME to America's last frontier" brays the tourist-brochure voice-over at the start of Limbo, the latest film from acclaimed leftdirector wing John's Sayles.

For over 20 years Sayles has been one of the most interesting and truly independent directors working in American cinema.

While he has worked on alligator cockroach films, films and sci-fi films, at the heart of the man is a noble social narrator.

Political

Much of his work has been political, films with large composite casts looking at communities in conflict and transition — the past, in the case of the brilliant Matewan, with his account of a coal miners' strike in the 1920s; the present, with City of Hope and his tale of a declining industrial town in New Jersey.

His new film Limbo echoes much of his past work and is a haunting and passionate film. The first scene cross-cuts between the local salmon cannery and a society wedding. We are introduced to a host of characters comprise the that scrubby Alaskan town of Juneau.

Before

Sayles then focus-es on two of them. Native Alaskan and former high school basketball star Joe Gastineau and country singer Donna De Angelo, a single mother, who has travelled 36 states before ending up in the limbo of Alaska. Both are enduring broken and bruised lives that sparks a deep connection when they meet. Sayles subtly locates their relationship in the changing community.

Welcome to the frontier

'History is our future here' says one local who sees Alaska as on its way to becoming one giant Disneyland theme park.

Donna, an enterand

Alaskan tainer, is part of this new economy while Joe a former fisherman is a part of the past. As the film contin-ues it twice switches style as Joe. Donna her lonely teenage daughter

Noelle first become fugitives and then desperate survivors. However the film never loses it sense of wholeness and completion

Sayles leaves the best until last and ends the film cruelly with a dangling conclusion that leaves you both confused and haunted. Limbo is a film that will stay with you long after the credits have rolled.

-SINEAD KENNEDY

"SO LONG as there is a rope tied round Mumia's neck / Let there be no rich white life we're bound to respect"

These are some of the lyrics Rage against from the Machine latest album.

It contains good songs such as 'New Millennium Homes' which warns that "A fire in the master's house is set" and 'Maria' which deals with sweatshop labour.

RATM emerged from Los Angels in 1991 with their self-titled debut album of angry, defiant but also political songs.

Strength

The strength of RATM has not just been good music but that they push their politics both on and off stage.

RATM reject the madness of the capitalist system which they try to fight and they urge us to do the same. Their sup-port of the Anti-Nazi League is well known, as is their support for anti-censorship campaigns in the US, the Zapatista struggle in Chiapas and their oppo-sition to US imperialism.

Their overt politics has drawn the ire of the US establishment. Lead singer Zach De La Rocha has been targeted by the FBI and guitarist Tom Morello was arrested in 1997 as part of a demonstration protesting about working con-ditions for garment workers at the clothing company Guess!. Just before Christmas last year over 300 off duty police showed up to picket RATM's Worcester, concert in Massachusetts.

The cops denounced the band's outspoken support for Death Row inmate and ex-Black Panther Mumia Abu-Jamal. "The police were afraid of our audience, that people might be listening" Morello said after the event.

The right wing boycott of the band that was stirred up by the National President of the Fraternal Order of Police was a failure

Predictably, the album is raw and defiant. The 12 fantastic songs are a mix of funk, punk, metal and rap.

The music may not be to everybody's liking, but anyone who is into this kind of music should get this album now.

- PAUL SMYTH

we

Leaked document shows...

Performance related pay backed by ICTU Teachers say

LEAKED documents from the part-nership negotianership negotia-tions, which have come into the pos-session of Socialist Worker, show that the government is determined to introthe duce Thatcherite performance pay system

tor. And instead of defending the idea of common pay for common work, the ICTU is backing the government presented a document where they demanded a new pay sys-tem for the public sector that was "grounded on a performance driven approach to reward, rather than traditional relativities / analogues approach." Traditionally public sector workers have pushed up their pay levels by maintaining 'relativi-ties' with each other. Specific groups like health board and local authority workers also receive 'analogue payments' which are based on links to private sector workers.

But instead of oppos-ing these moves, the ICTU have gone along with them. This is despite the fact that they had no man-date from their union conferences to do this.

In their response to the vernment, the ICTU government, the ICTU accepted that workers should only get pay reviews where there was an agreement to "provide for the design and implementation of performance management systems". They argued that work-place 'partnership bodies' should negotiate on these issues, so undermining the traditional structure of col-push workers to complete against each other for per-formance related awards. The government docu-ment accepted they would not get a full individual performance system immediately but they unstal teven the deve to They even specified that "a change manage-ment consultant" should be brought in to deal with disputes. This is a scandalous position for union leaders to take and is already pro-voking a massive rebellion, particularly among pay would be a disaster for education" said Pat Cahill, from the Executive of the Association of Secondary of Teachers Ireland.

"PERFORMANCE

"Everyone knows that exam results vary according to whether the school is in a deprived area or a wealthy area. How could you set performance stan-dards that are supposed to apply to teachers in differ-ent situations.

Disaster

"Performance related pay has brought an educa-tional disaster in England.

Why should we copy it over here?". The revelation that the ICTU was backing perfor-mance related pay was the last straw for the secondary teachers. Anger had already grown among teachers over the 'early starter issue'

Teachers had settled for a 5.5 percent pay rise but then found that nurses, fire-fighters, Gardaí and others had won far higher awards. The government is now blackmailing 'early settlers' by making a small extra increase conditional on accepting a ment ASTI has pulled out of the ICTU and is now lodging a 30 percent catch up claim for teachers. They may embark on industrial action in the claim for teachers. near future if it is not achieved.

no to PRP

Opposition to perfor-Opposition to perfor-mance pay has also grown in the INTO, the home base of ICTU President Joe O'Toole. Three major Dublin branches have opposed O'Toole's suphave port port for performance related pay.

union activist. One Crea Ryder said, "the media are claiming there is a division between the three teachers unions.

"But in reality the division is between rank and file teachers and those who owe their allegiance to the ICTU bureaucracy. There was almost unanimous support in my branch for a resolution which attacked the whole idea and expressed concern with the role played by O Toole Eddie Conlon, a TUI executive member agreed. "The ICTU has accepted the government's argu-ment about the need to import market criteria into the public service, as if educating children was the same as making wash-ing machines. These leaders have forgotten how to defend public services and the people who work in them.

After the nurses scored After the nurses scored high pay settlements, the government were deter-mined to break relativities. They had also seen how the fire-fighters had been able to defend their link with the Gardaí to into the public secgain increases of 9 per-cent. Their strategy is to push workers to compete change. On December 22, the

Oppose performance related pay

PERFORMANCE related pay is a system that was pioneered by the Tories in Britain to weaken the unions.

It undermines the ability unions to negotiate a rate for the job. Workers are encouraged instead to compete against each other and end up with different pay rates.

It gives management more power to award 'Yes' men and women.

Management get the final say on who has put in a good performance. There can be no absolute-ly accurate measure of perfor-mance in the vast majority of jobs. The criteria are never fully

Meetings on:

Drop the debt

Is Marx still relevant?

The roots of ethnic conflict

A WORLD IN CRISIS - IDEAS TO

CHANGE THE WORLD

February 25th-26th, Trinity College

Is Coca-Cola destroying culture?

GM foods — Poisoned by profit

World Trade = World Tyranny

The fight for women's equality

For a full timetable Tel: 0872927067,

or write to Po Box 1648, Dublin 8

Organised by Trinity SWSS, One

World and Environmental Society

Who gains from the Celtic Tiger?

clear. So management get a major opportunity to reward those who toe their line and dis-criminate against union militants.

Performance Related pay demoralises the majority of

At first everyone believes their leads to jealousies and a feeling that the work of the majority is board wage rises.

where SWP Branch meetings

Contact 01-872 2682 for detail

Meets every Wednesday at the Mayfare Hotel at 8.30pm BELFAST CENTRAL:

Meets every Tuesday at 8.30pm in the Garrick Bar, Chichester St. BELFAST SOUTH: Meets every Wednesday at 8.30pm in Queens Students Union

CORK: Meets every Tuesday at 8pm in Abbey Tavern, College Rd.

February 8th, The revolutionary party February 15th Origins of the familly private property and the state. DERRY:

Meets every Thursday at 8.30pm in Badgers Bar upstairs, Orchard St.: DUNDALK:

Contact 01 - 872 2682 for details DUN LAOGHAIRE:

Meets every Tuesday at 8.30pm in the Christian Institute DUBLIN ARTANE / COOLOCK:

Meets every Tuesday at 8.30pm in Artane / Beaumont Recreational Centre opp. Artane Castle

DUBLIN NORTH CENTRAL: Meets every Wednesday at 8.30pm in Conways, Parnell St

February 9th What do we mean by revolution

February 16th Genetic engineering: Has

science gone to far DUBLIN NORTH WEST:

Meets every Wednesday at 8.30pm in O'Mahoney's Pub, Phibsboro (near Crossguns bridge)

February 9th The crisis of European Social democracy February 16th Are Ethnic conflicts inevitable?

DUBLIN RIALTO: Meets every Tuesday at 8:30pm St. Andrews Community Centre, SCR, Rialto

February 8th The future socialist society February 15th The irigins of the familly property and the state DUBLIN RATHMINES:

Meets every Wednesday at 8.30pm in O'Connell's Pub, Sth. Richmond St. February 9th Class polarisation in Europe February 16th The revolutionary ideas of James Connolly DUBLIN SOUTH CENTRAL:

Meets every Thursday at 8.30pm in Trinity Inn, Pearse St

DUBLIN TALLAGHT:

Meets every Wednesday at 8.30pm in Jobstown Community Centre ENNISKILLEN:

Phone 01 - 872 2682 for details GALWAY:

Meets every Thursday in Currans Hotel, Eyre Square (beside Cuba) 8.30pm LIMERICK:

Phone 01 - 872 2682 for details SLIGO

Meets fortnightly on Saturdays, phone 01-8722682 for details

TRALEE Meets fortnightly on Mondays at 5.50pm

in Harty's Bar, Tralee: WATERFORD:

Meets every Thursday at 8pm in the ATGWU Hall, Keizer St. WEXFORD

Meets every fortnight, phone 01-8722682

MAYNOOTH Meets every Wednesday at 6.30pm in classhall B 9th Feb: Marx's theory of history 16th Feb: The politics of James Connolly

UCD Meets every Wednesday at Ipm room

G109a (arts block) 9th Feb: Marx's theory of Alienation 16th Feb: James Connolly and the Irish

Socialist tradition TRINITY COLLEGE:

Meets every Thursday at 7pm room 4050a (arts block)

10th Feb: Sartre and the politics of existentialism

17th Feb: Mumia Abu Jamal and the death penalty

Socialism in Belfast A WEEKEND OF DISCUSSION AND DEBATE ON SOCIALISM IN THE 21ST CENTURY

new partnership agree-

- HIGHLIGHTS INCLUDE: * Sinn Fein, PUP and SWP debate the future for socialism
- * Eamonn McCann & Chris Bambery on
- Marxism in a new millennium * Lindsey German on Feminism and New
- Laddism
- * Forum on New Labour and education. QUEENS UNIVERSITY, BELFAST,

FEBRUARY 25TH -26TH TICKETS 45 43 FOR DETAILS PHONE: (01232) 5087231 OR (01504) 308662 PO ECX 354, TOMB ST

pay will rise because workers nat-urally think they are not being rewarded for their full effort. But all performance systems ward only a small minority. This undervalued. Workers should reject any moves to introduce these system and instead demand across the workers.

immediately but they wanted to open the door to this. They wanted a 'roll-out' of the system to be followed by performance driven systems at 'individ-ual level'.

ATHLONE:

stand BRAY:

Workers create all the wealth in capitalist soci-ety. A new society can only be constructed when they collectively seize control of that wealth and plan its pro-duction and distribu-

FOR REVOLUTION,

The present system cannot be reformed out of existence. Parliament cannot be used to end the system.

The courts army and police are there to defend the interests of the capitalist class not to run society in a neu-tral fashion.

tral fashion. To destroy capitalism, workers need to smash the state and create a workers' state based on workers' councils. FOR REAL SOCIAL-ISM, EAST AND WEST:

ISM, EAST AND WEST: The SWP welcomed the break-up of the USSR and the end of the East European dic-tatorships. These states were not socialist but were run by a state-cap-italist class. We are arguingt the Italist Class. We are against the domination of the globe by imperialist powers and we oppose their wars. We are for the right of all nations, East and West, to self-deter-mination

nation

mination. FOR AN END TO ALL OPPRESSION We oppose all forms of oppression which divide and weaken the work-ing class. We are for full social, economic and political equality for women.

social, economic and political equality for women. We stand for: free con-traception and free, legalised abortion and the right to divorce; the complete separation of church and state, an end to church control over schools and hospi-tals; an end to discrimi-nation against gays and lesbians; an end to racism and anti-trav-eller bigotry. We argue for working class unity in the fight against oppression. FOR WORKERS' UNITY IN THE NORTH: Northern Ireland is a

UNITY IN THE NORTH: Northern Ireland is a sectarian state, propped up by the British Army. Catholic workers are systematically discrimi-nated against by the state. The division between Catholic and Protestant workers weakens the whole working class. Workers' unity can only be won and maintained in a fight to smash both the Northern and Southern states. We stand for the imme-

Southern states. We stand for the imme-diate withdrawal of British troops. Violence will only end when workers unite in the fight for a workers' republic.

FOR A FIGHTING TRADE UNION MOVE

MENT:

Trade UNION MOVE-MENT: Trade unions exist to defend workers' inter-ests. But the union lead-ers' role is to negotiate with capitalism—not to end it. We support the leaders when they fight but oppose them when they betray workers. We stand for independent rank and file action. FOR A REVOLUTION-ARY PARTY: To win socialism social-ists need to organise in a revolutionary party. This party needs to argue against right-wing ideas and for over-throwing the system. The SWP aims to build such a party in Ireland.

SOCIALIST WORKER PAGE 11

the workers to provide cover

until six in the evening each day as opposed to five thirty.

They also want workers to work the day after St Stephen's Day and Good

But as the workers on the picket line explained; "More productivity, they must be joking. There used to be seventy-two people working here. Now there are thirty-three doing the same amount of work. We are all double and treble jobbing.

Why should we do more?" Members of the Roche family who own the compa-ny had been revealed by the Sunday Independent as holding substantial amounts of money in the Ansbacher

The Roches Stores strike shows the reality of low pay behind all the talk of the Celtic Tiger and social partnership. Every worker should support this important strike against low pay. Collections can be brought down to the picket-line on Strand St. The local branch of the Socialist Workers Party are also organising a fundrais-ing social for the strikers. Keep an eye out for the posters and come along.

Strike against low pay

in

Friday!

accounts

Tel: (01)8722682; fax (01) 8723838; email: swp@clubi.ie web: www.clubi.ie/swp Drogheda Council workers strike Roches Stores Chilton Electric 'For as long as it takes'

OVER 50 Drogheda council workers are on strike and determined to stay out until Drogheda until Corporation rescind their decision to privatise the refuse collection in the town.

Members of SIPTU and the ATGWU have jointly picketed council installations and sent flying pickets to confront actors. соп Moreover, the largest public meeting in Drogheda in recent times, held in the Westcourt Hotel, attracted over 1000 people angered by the decision of the local authority to charge £155 per year for the privatised service.

Anger

Marches and demonstrations in the town centre over the weekend prior to the strike also drew hundreds of people onto the streets and are further testament to the seething anger that has gripped Drogheda over the issue.

The local dump in Drogheda is to be closed by order of the Environment Protection Agency. The County Manager, John Quinlivan, insisted that the councilors had no alternative but to vote for privatisa-tion, and make the people of Drogheda pay for the cost of transporting the refuse to transporting the another location. One union source told standing for union positions in two of

Elections

Jimmy Kelly, the con-nor of Waterford venor Crystal, is one of three candidates who is standing for the executive of the ATGWU. The ATGWU organises work-

Socialist Worker, "This strike is about a number of issues: the jobs and working conditions of the council workers; the dictatorial stance of the County Manager, the supine deci sion of the councilors, and total opposition to double taxation and privatisation". A few days before the pickets were placed, the authorities used a crane to lift two refuse trucks out of the corporation yard after the workers blockaded the Wheelie bin trucks. When the workers tried to prevent their removal by lying down

Privatisation

THE GOVERN-

MENT'S plans

through pri-vatisation of through local services is rapidly unravelling as opposition

towns across

A strike by council workers in Bray which was

suported by huge marches in the town has fuelled

the confidence of

campaigners across Wicklow

who are fighting

a wave

mounts

ireland.

push

of

in

to

the road, the Borough Engineer, John Dineen, demanded that the Gardai arrest the workers involved. One of the bosses of Wheelie Bins Service threat ened the strikers with "a visit from the boys in balaclavas if they interfered with his operation." This kind of language is taken very seriously in this area.

However, the workers were defiant on the picket line later that morning and promised that, "we'll stay here for as long as it takes to win our demands".

in

the privatisation of refuse collection. The three weeks of strike action by the

Bray forced Bray Urban District Council to take the Council to take the rubbish collection service back in to public ownership. The workers returned to work on Saturday after a deal which returned one of the two bin lorries removed over Christmas. Initially the work-

Initially the work-ers were asked to return to work on the bin lorry with a team of only two men but continued strike action forced the council to employ a

council workers

He

er.

with

Privatisation plans provoke resistance team of five. The remaining five men who worked on the other lorry are being worked on the lorry are being offered a redundancy package of five package of five weeks pay per years service or the option to return to work in a department with department with increased benefits. However far more could have been won if the SIPTU leader-ship had fully backed

Despite a letter

from Regional Secretary Jack O'Connor appealing

for collections to support the workers, little money came in. As workers faced financial

the strike

growing

Workers fight multinational SOME 200 workers have taken strike action for increased pay at the Chilton Electric plant in Dunleer. Management have refused to negotiate on the issue of basic pay in the plant. Chilton Electric is owned by Glen Dimplex, one of the most profitable companies in Ireland.

Lochann Ouinn, the chairman of the tax dodging AIB bank, owns 26 percent of the company. Many workers in the hardship, O'Connor himself intervened.

He argued against militant action and made no attempt link

the struggles against privatisation togeth-

The key to winning more in Bray lay in copying the farmers and placing mass pickets on dumps which took dumps which took commercial rubbish But the SH/TU lead-ership kept talking about respecting the struggle in Bray set off a chain reaction. In Wicklow, council

workers faced with the same threat of privatisation have also voted for strike

the

law. However

plant take home no more than £165 per week. A management proposal to put a new bonus payment scheme was rejected since the current bonus scheme has been miserable for staff. Workers say the bonus system was linked to units sold rather than units made. A bonus of just £8 was paid in the week before the current strike began. although 20,000 units were manufactured.

Workers at Chilton's fellow Glen Dimplex company Bitech are on a work to rule and overtime ban in support of the strike.

action and were due to go out as Socialist Worker went to press. In the past week

every council meet-ing in Bray, Wicklow and Arklow has been met by militant demonstrations of local residents who are angered by the relentless attacks on recentess attacks on public services. As one protestor in Wicklow told Socialist Worker "They want to turn Ireland into some-where like the Isle of Man, where and the Man - where only the rich can live. Privatisation is about making you a guest in your own country

of who

33 MEMBERS of MANDATE in the Roches Stores head office Dublin are on strike against low pay.

The workers, in the accounts payable section, deal with the companies payroll. They are the worst paid of all those doing the job in the industry.

Their pay scale begins at a paltry £8,000 per year going up to about £12,000 with bonuses at the end of six years.

This compares with peo-ple doing the same job in SuperQuinn who start at about £12,000 going up to about £18,000 at the top end of the scale.

As one worker pointed out, "the money we get at the top end of the scale is worse than people in other places get starting out." The Labour Court recommended a new pay-scale for the workers in line with Penney's and Brown Thomas, but the company is Roches are also refusing to pay the 2-3° local barning increase. They want

Firefighters under attack

FIREFIGHTERS IN Northern Ireland have received а kick in the teeth from the new Across Britain, the

New Labour government has been pushing local fire authorities to undermine conditions and implement cuts to the fire and service. After a sustained campaign last year by the FBU to save the Grey Book, which contains their national minimum conditions, the employers have tried to avoid an all-out national confrontation and instead are trying to cut conditions region by region.

Many regions have negotiated better local conditions above the minimum. These are now under attack with the employers attempting to start new recruits on lower conditions.

Faced with strike action and votes for strikes in Derbyshire, South Yorkshire and London, the employers backed off. But the measures were imple-mented in Northern Ireland by New Labour before the

by New Labour before the new Executive was formed. Firefighters in the North were hoping that the Assembly would reverse the decision. The fire service now comes under the Department of Health, Social Security and Public Safety headed by Sinu Fein's Bairbre de Bruin. But in early January fire-fighters were told that de fighters were told that de Bruin was leaving the arrangements in place, claiming that the crisis in the hospitals meant savings had to be made elsewhere.

Local FBU leader Jim Barbour said, "It is now essential that firefighters in Northern Ireland organise to resist these cuts."

ote left in union elections

the major unions.

seeking to become one of the two Irish representatives. A committed opponent of social partnership, Jimmy believes that the ATGWU needs to match its militant rhetoric with action. He is also campaigning for the union to adopt an campaign so that it breaks into areas like call-centres and the computer factories. Voting for the position continues until February 4th

4th. Carolann Duggan, a Waterford shop steward, has made it onto the ballot paper for the SIPTU election for Vice President. Carolann

Education branch and the Dublin Electronic and Engineering branch. In the vast majority of other branches, the SIPTU machine delivered for the establishment candidate Jack O'Connor. Attendance at meetings averaged just less than 20 and was often packed with supporters of the union headquarters.

Carolann Duggan is the only anti-partnership candi-date in the race and stands to pick up on discontent with the latest rotten deal the offi-cials are pushing. However the election will not take place until April.

Jimmy Kelly and Carolann Duggan are both members of the Socialist Workers Party.

ssues for the labour movement Harney creates loopholes on Minimum Pay

A NATIONAL minimum wage will be imple-mented on April 1st. Mary Harney has been forced by massive pressure to bring in this measure. It is estimated that one in ten trish workers will gain. If the figure had been set at £5 an hour, one in five workers would get extra pay. But Harney has also created many loopholes to allow employers to get out of paying the minimum wage. One major loophole lies in exactly how an hourly rate of an employee should be calculated.

The obvious way would be to take the basic rate for a week and divide it by the hours worked.

But Harney has introduced a special schedule that allows employers to calculate for other items so that it appears they are paying above the minimum rate. The hotel and catering area is notorious for low wages. But under the new Bill, employers will be able to claim that board and lodgings has to be calculated as part of the pay offered to an

They will also be able to claim that tips which are gathered cen-trally are part of workers wages.

Low paying factory owners will also be able to include shift premium and bonus rates as part of the hourly rate. Harney has also allowed employers to cheat younger workers. Someone who gets their first job after they are eighteen will be only given 80 percent of will the minimum wage for the first year and 90 percent for the second

If the employer claims they are on a training programme this can be reduced further to 75 per-cent for a period. This would allow employers to pay these workers just £3.30 an hour.

Exempted

Harney has also made sure at the minimum wage is not tied that the r that the minimum wage is not tied to overall wage rises so that it increases automatically. Instead government Ministers have to make a direct order to raise the wage and this will allow them to hold low paid workers hostage until other workers accept lower wage rises.

Employers can also appeal to the Labour Court to be exempted from paying the minimum wage if they claim they are in financial difficulty. The exemption can last for up to a year.

But the real incentive for employers lies in the low fine for breaching the law.

The employer will only be liable for a £1,500 fine for the first offence or six months in jail or both.

However, the normal pattern of Irish law means that they will only get a fine, and many will cal-culate that they could try avoiding the minimum wave for some time the minimum wage for some time

Harney

cover their fine. Despite all these loopholes, there are provisions in the law which workers could still use

Employers are now compelled to keep written records of their wage payment systems on their premises and workers can demand a formal statement of their hourly rate of pay. Workers can also take matters

Workers can also take matters to a Rights Commissioner and ensure that an inspector is sent out to their workplace. But the law alone will not pro-tect workers. The employers can get plenty of legal advice to allow them to use the loopholes that Harney has provided. They key is to unionise as many of the low paying work-places as possible. The unions should be giving a simply guaran-tee to every low paid worker, that if they join the union, they will get full backing in their fight to

ers in both Britain and has been nominated by the aggressive recruitment SOCIALISTS ARE

Ireland and Jimmy is

IN THE same week that the Blair government was exposed as sell-ing millions of pounds worth of lethal arms to the corrupt govern-ment in Zimbabwe, the Northern Ireland peace process lurched to another standstill over the decommissioning of IRA weapons.

Trimble claims that decommissioning is about the republican movement "demon-strating its commitment to purely democra-tic methods." The British government says it is necessary to "ensure that violence is never again used for political ends." It is the utmost hypocrisy from both of them. Blair didn't hesitate to use violence for political ends when British planes bombed Serbia last year (killing many more innocent civilians than the Omagh bomb). When it comes to the Troubles, the Ulster Unionists and the British government have both supported violence.

Far from using exclusively democratic methods the RUC and British Army main-tained a secret state of Special Branch and MI5 agents, using torture, false confessions, watchtowers and informers. The changes to the RUC proposed by Mandelson leave all the important parts of this mechanism of state violence intact. In Eastern Europe, the hated secret police were secret files opened after the 1989 revolutions

But in Northern Ireland, the Special Branch remains and not a single police officer will be brought to trial over collusion in the murders of Pat Finucane, Rosemary Nelson or countless others. It has taken over 25 years to get a new inquiry into Bloody Sunday and none of the soldiers or government ministers responsible will be charged.

When Trimble poses as the defender of the RUC against "concessions to terrorists" he is trying to claim that the IRA alone caused the Troubles.

He is unlikely to be very worried about right wing of unionism around Paisley's DUP are a declining minority. Their rallies and marches to save the RUC have been miserable affairs.

Trimble is close to the business elite who want the Assembly to work. They want political stability and protection for themselves. But Trimble also heads a party that was built on patronage, control of the police and discrimination against Catholics. The only thing that can hold Unionism together is its opposition to republicanism. That is why he is again making decommissioning such a major issue.