Socialist inside Shut down Vorker

For a Workers' Republic and International Socialism

1.00 / £0.70 STG

Sellafield

Henry Kissenger : The world's biggeswt war crminal - page 7

Not so clean PDs cash in Progressive The Democrats have received two separate 'donations' of £50,000 in the past year from Treasury Holdings and and chief Rvanair Mr executive executive Michael O'Leary.

Coincidently cabinet has just approved new facilities at Dublin Airport for low-cost airlines.After much lobbying from Ryanair. O'Leary has long sought to build a terminal for Ryanair's use at Dublin Airport in return for a conces-in return for a conces-sion on landing fees. Treasury Holdings the property develop-ment company is still pushing through its takeover of the Dublin Docklands at Spencer Dock Dock.

£10 million to steel magnet... Did we pay for Blairs's bribe?

TLAKSHMI MITTAL, the Indian billionaire at the centre of the cash for influence scandal that has engulfed the government of Tony Blair, had a £10 million loan from ACC Bank guaranteed by the Irish government when he took over the Irish Steel plant at Haulbowline,

Cork, in 1996. When the company went into liquidation last year the government paid the £10 million. paid the £10 million. The formerly state owned Irish Steel was sold to Mittal's Ispat International Group for £1 in 1996 on the understanding of a £30 mil-lion investment into the plant and the securing of its 400 jobs under a five-year plan.

Claimed

However, almost exactly five years later, Ispat closed the Cork plant after having pushed through a series of attacks on workers.

The group claimed to have invested £24 million in the plant. A statement of affairs presented at the time of the collapse showed that Ispat Ireland owed £23 million to its parent group. During the five-year period, group on the New York and Amsterdam stock exchanges, an event that pushed his own net worth towards an estimated $2 billion. An Irish company, Dunmurray, which was registered in Cork, was used to channel a personal profit of $31 million. Mittal has been the subject of a political scandal in Britain in recent weeks when it was reported that Tony Blair had lobbied Adrian Nastase, the Romanian prime minis-ter, to promote the sale of a Romanian steelworks to Mittal's

Romanian steelworks to Mittal's company. Mittal had previously donated stg£125,000 to the Labour Party. Whether any donations have been made to the Irish politcal par-ties is as yet unclear. Though per-haps they helped out for free.

Disgraced TD Liam Lawlor is getting special treatment in Mountjoy jail. He is holding telephone dis-cussions with his lawyers and 'friends' in a room used to monitor the phone calls of other prisoners of other prisoners.

Malborough recruitment Football junkets for Ahern... The dole and no wages for workers WORKERS Marlborough Recruitment were left without their wages as the company went bust.

But the company directors are unsurprisingly Okay as they are close friends of Bertie Ahem.

Ahern appotinted the boss of Marloborough David McKenna to the board Enterprise of Ireland.

Donation

McKenna flew Ahern on a number of trips to Old Trafford to watch Manchester United. McKenna then proceeded to give £5,650 to Fianna Fail.

There was of course no contradiction between running a recruitment agency and working for Enterprise Ireland. Enterprise Though Marlborough did get a number of lucrative contracts with new companies in recent years.

Another close friend Ahern's, Des Richardson is Marlborough's executive chairman.

Des Richardson is a former Fianna Fail fundraiser and is still the fundraiser for Ahern's constituency. Yet another friend of Ahern's Paul Kavanagh is also a director of the firm. Kavanagh was also a FF fundraiser under Charlie Haughey.

Sources said some staff knew of the looming crisis last week after months of delayed payment of expenses and the disapearence of management in recent months.

In an e-mail sent to staff, company Managing Director David McKenna, said it was with a heavy heart that he was writing to them.

"As you know we had arranged with the bank to support us upon certain events happening. "This was all going to in until Wednesday plan evening when one of the deals fell out of bed and this triggered the events of yesterday." While the assets are been handed over to the banks the workers are being left high and dry. Perhaps the workers'

the FF

wages could come out of fundraisers' salaries of other prisoners. There are even sugges-tions that Lawlor had access to a prison computer in the room and is being allowed to spend several hours a day working on legal matters in the room. Apparently on his visits to his new office Lawlor is using the Prison officers' female toilet as to use an inmates toilet he would inmates toilet he would have to pass other prison-ers. And apparently Lawlor has been subject "to abuse and cat calls" whenever he is seen by other inmates. BUILDING of the Dublin Port tunnel has six times caused serious displace-ment of rail tracks.

On only one occasion did Irish Rail consider the alarms important enough to halt train services.

Numerous residents Numerous residents groups expressed concern at the planning stage over the danger of subsidence due to the building of the tunnal. They were told due to the building of the tunnel. They were told there was no possibility of this happening. But if the underground construction work can cause a track to sink what is it doing to the foundations of people's homes?

An estimated 250,000 Irish children are attending school in sub-standard classrooms.

rooms. There are over 850 schools on the Department of Education's waiting list for major repair. An INTO survey of over 1,200 prima-ry schools in April 2000 had found that many were verminmany were vermin-infested, overcrowd-ed and totally inade-ed and totally inade-quate in terms of basic hygiene. Though it is noticeable that all the political parties have suggested using Public Private Partnerships to help school building. Socialist Worker suggests parents and teachers watch closely for Gover-nment announce-ments in the run up to the election for extra funding for schools. They are likely to be attempts to privatise educa-tion by the back door.

sent for tests as soon as her doctor realised where she was living. There are also a number of people in the area awaiting results, and it is feared that at least two more will be diagnosed with this fatal disease.

One man, who was a driver to the Tegral dumps, has been diagnosed with mesotheresult of asbestos infection.

sludge, into Boycetown dump on a continu-ous basis between 1964 and 1974. Locals recall this period and say it was "like a white Christmas all year round" due to the amount of white asbestos dust that would settle in the vicinity.

Council have refused to come up with a properly documented plan for the disposal of exposed asbestos on this site despite numerous requests since 1997.

date, they have not received a reply.

A WORLD Airways DC 10 Jet (above) carrying US mili-tary equipment was g r o u n d e d overnight at Shannon airport after the captain reported smoke in the cockpit and was forced to make the emergency I a n d i n g . Emergency ser-confirmed there was smoke in the cargo hold which also leaked into the cockpit. World Airways DC 10s have been transport-ing US troops through Ireland via Shannon since Bush's war storted Bush's war started.

€1.5m on taxis!

£1.5m on air taxis for the President, the Taoiseach and his Cabinet ministers in the past year, newly released figures reveal.

Air taxis were used because the Government jet is seen as too shabby for the ministers. Private jets were hired on 21 occasions in 2001 for ministerial air transport and the vast majority of these were for use by Bertie

The cargo jet was sched-uled to make a refuelling stop at Shannon en route from Bangor, Maine in the United States to Kuwait, via Paphos in Cyprus. Socialist Worker reveal that the plane

THE State spent more than

Further air taxis hired by the Taoiseach during September and October to Shannon, Brussels, Prague and Northolt, UK cost €170,000.

was carrying ammunition and weapons to U.S. mili-tary in the Middle East. that

Asbestosis cases linked to dump

TWO PEOPLE have been diagnosed with the fatal asbestosis disease in Togher, Co Lonth, and their doctors are satisfied that they have contracted this illness because of their proximity to a closed asbestos domp in the area. The dump was one of two that was used for over 20 years by Tegral, part of the CRH group. The first woman who was diagnosed was lioma, which is a cancer of the stomach, as a Tegral dumped asbestos waste, including

Local residents claim that Louth County

Residents in the area have written a number of letters to Minister Noel Dempsey. To vices sources have

Ahern. At one point Ahern

Ahern. At one point Ahern had two planes going to dif-ferent places. A flight by the Taoiseach to New York via Iceland on June 23 cost €117,568. A flight to Kerry on the same day, in the name on the same day, in the name of the Taoiseach, cost €4,317.

The plane landed at Shannon at 5.10pm after the Captain reported smoke in the cockpit. U.S. military personnel, armed with automatic weapons, were on board the aircraft and met emergency crews as they arrived to inspect the aircraft crart. There were five people in all on board, a crew of three, two men and a woman and two U.S. military per-and two U.S. military per-sonnel wearing fatigues. In 1997 – the last year for which figures were available – 3,500 US mili-tary aircraft passed through Irish airspace and 425 planes landed at Shannon.

Since September 11thhundreds of soldiers have been transported through Shannon. Many have traveled on supposedly "civilian" aircraft that landed for refueling. It's time we got the death merchants out of Irish airspace.

Passports for a bet? IT HAS been alleged in a petition presented to the High Court that in 1998, Irish passports were issued to various members of the extraordi-nary wealthy Getty family, in return for the issue of £3m of redeemable shares to GT Equinus Inc. It was alleged the shares were issued to GT Equinus by Blackhall Racing Company, which managed the Punchestown Course with another company, Punchestown Management Company (PMC). A DRAFT Price Waterhouse Coopers (PCW) report into the oper-ation and financial affairs of Punchestown racecourse states that net assets were overestimated by £14m. Apparently missing £14million was a mistake.

Death plane nearly causes disaster at Shannon

US military out of Ireland

what we think

Fight for the right to choose

ACCORDING to articles by the Pro-life cam-paign and Youth Defence along side a statement from Catholic Herald if the Abortion referendum is defeated then it will be the end of the Irish Anti abortion movement.

The right wing know this and have gone on the offensive.

They are operating a policy of deliberate confusion. Tens of thousands of women are pro-choice but misinformation means they aren't sure that this means a NO vote.

The Catholic Church has gone as far producing a million leaflets in favour of a Yes vote.

Under orders from head office Fianna Fail members took to the streets for the first time in years to leaflet for a yes vote.

Ahern has attempted to use the referendum to re-build a popular base for right wing politics.

He has not just called the referendum because he is beholden to independents.

He understands that parties such as the Greens and Sinn Fein have always been reticent about this issue and he wants to put them on the back foot before a general election.

But instead of fighting back much of left has been intimidated by the right.

Experts

The referendum debate had psychiatric and legal 'experts' to the fore rather than mobilizing the voices of thousands of women who have had abortions.

The Labour Party are run-ning a defensive campaign that is terrified of admitting they want a 'liberal abortion regime'. The Labour Party National Executive used the referendum as an opportunity to overturn the party's conference decision that favoured a women's right to choose.

The Green Party are notable by their absence and are divided on the issue. Sinn Fein went as far as to publish along side a statement from the Alliance No Vote in An Phoblacht.

The reason for all this has its origins in a simple myth. Before the X-case it was argued that the "Liberal agenda" would be won not through protest and action but through Europe and lob-bying. After the X-case we were then told that this liberal agenda was won.

But the reality is different. The X-case brought thou-sands onto the streets. As well as the great demonstration of up to 14,000 there were daily angry protests at the Dail.

If Ms X had not been allowed to go there would have been riots on the streets.

Those protests produced a sea change in Irish politics that put the right wing on the defensive for a decade. But instead of pushing home the advantage, Labour went into two coalitions, and did-vit own logislate on the Xn't even legislate on the Xcase judgment.

Freedom

Socialists fight for the right to choose because we want greater freedom for people to control their lives. The right to choose means a right both to have an abortion - and a genuine right to have a child.

In Ireland the right of a woman to choose to have a child is greatly restricted by the lack of affordable childcare facilities, adequate paid maternity leave, decent housing and social welfare. State-funded childcare facilities are provided only for children who are known to be at risk of physical or sexual abuse. What little childcare is available is so expensive it is beyond the means of most low paid workers.

Richer women can sidestep all these issues. In the same way as money allows them the choice of having an abortion, so money allows them to have a child on their own terms.

It is in the fight for a better world, where no mother has to watch her child starving to death or dying of measles, that real concern KOREA: Fighting Privatisation and George Bush!

In the space of a couple of days thousands took to the streets of Seoul -- twice. First to protest against a visit of George Bush (right) and then to protest against the govenrment's privatisation plans (left).

for children is expressed. In general, those who support the right of women to con-traception and abortion are more likely than 'pro-lifers' to be involved in that fight.

The reason is simple. We are concerned, not with theological arguments about potential human beings, but with the rights and dignity of actual sentient human beings.

It was thousands of people mobilising that even got the right to travel and information. We need to mobilise again to win the right to choose. And to make sure that for the first time in its history the Catholic Herald has it got right and that the anti-abortion movement in Ireland is finished.

6500.00

Help us raise 20,000!
Socialist Worker Appeal
The Socialist Worker appeal is aiming to raise 20,000 euros. This money will be used to help Socialist Worker become a weekly paper.

help Socialist Worker become a weekly paper. We dont get any financial backing from big business. We rely solely on our readers and supporters to help us build a revolutionary party with its own paper, independent of the establishment media. Our readers and supporters are responding very enthusiastically to the Socialist Worker Appeal. So far we have raised over 6,500 euro. We would like to thank all our members and readers who have so generously donated so far. The Socialist Worker appeal has launched a national raffle. Tickets are available from your Socialist Worker paper seller and cost 1 euro each. There are several money prizes and the draw will take place on Easter Monday 1st April.

I want to support the Socialist Worker Appeal and help keep Socialist Worker at the centre of the struggle for a better world. Please find enclosed the following donation:

L
ļ	Name
i	Address
1	Phone
ļ	Email

Donations in Republic of Ireland should be made payable to: Socialist Worker, AIB, 37 O'Connell Street, Dublin 1 Account Number: 85173030 Sort Code: 93 11 36 Donations in Northern Ireland should be made payable to Socialist Worker, First Trust Bank, High Street, Belfast Account No: 00812073, Sort Code: 22 PD 92 93 80 92

Return slip to: SW Appeal, PO Box 1648, Dublin 8.

mews of the wor

Zimbabwe

EU is not a friend of fight for democracy

EUROPEAN UNION (EU) leaders imposed sanctions against Zimbabwe and withdrew election Nobody observers. should believe the EU is a friend of democracy in Africa or any-where else. The EU says it is outraged by President Mugabe's refusal to allow moni-tors in to watch over the presidential election scheduled for 9-10 March.

But the EU cares little about electoral fraud, so long as those who cheat fol-low Western interests. In the presidential election in neighbouring Zambia two months ago there were widespread reports of fraud.

and many others.

bail.

forward

The hope for Zimbabwe is that there will be more, and bigger, protests, and that they will connect the issue of democracy to the resis-tance to neo-liberalism. It is therefore a very good sign that the Zimbabwe Congress of Trade Unions is under pres-sure from worker activists to call a stayaway before the election. Such actions, not EU sanctions, show the way

Fraud

Even the EU's monitors expressed reservations about the election, which saw Levy Mwanawasa elected with less than 30 percent of the vote.

However, because Mwanawasa is a friend of the multinationals, the EU shut up and defended the result. There were no sanc-tions when Mwanawasa declared that anyone who protested faced the death penalty. The EU is worried about Zimbabwe's white farmers and other capitalist interests in the region, not the black workers and peasants. In Madagascar (see report below) the US and EU care nothing for the ordinary people of the island.

They would be happy th whichever candidate could cheat his way to power so long as he stands Argentina

Protests broke out against the IMF demands more cuts

A NEW wave of agitation has swept Argentina. It comes after the conversion of all bank accounts from dollars to the national currency, the peso.

Friday of last week saw demonstrations right across the country, with unemployed peo-ple looting supermarkets in the Cordoba province for food. Some 5,000 people attended a national conference of the 'piqueteros" movement of unemployed workers in Buenos Aires' Plaza de Mayo square. It called for roadblocks throughout the country to bring everything to a halt. The powerful oil workers' union announced it was calling an all-out strike. The govern-ment is paying out $10 billion to halve the debts of giant industrial and financial firms. They also reduced by about a third the amount small savers had in their accounts. It amounted to robbing the lower middle classes and many workers in order to subsidise big business. Government controls still stop many people getting access to savings or wages paid to them through the banks.

Prices have already started soaring by between 10 and 30 percent in a fortnight. This isn't good enough for the International Monetary Fund. It is demanding that the government imposes still bigger cuts in public expenditure.

OVER A MILLION PEOPLE TAKE TO THE STREETS alisation" and pro-business poli-cies. Ravalomanana, a top busi-nessman, is nervous about protests going beyond his control. The US government is sniffing around Madagascar. There are the-orise that the US is preparing to site a naval base there in case it loses Diego Garcia. The British, French and US governments were manoeuvring this week to secure a deal between the two candidates to come to an agreement to restore "stability".

HUGE STREET protests and a two-week general strike have shut banks and businesses in many parts 01 Madagascar.

Madagascar-

Over 1.5 million people, one in ten of the island's entire popula-tion, were on the streets. The agi-tation was sparked by electoral fraud.

But the real issue is the poverty of the people. In the early part of this month around half a million people demonstrated daily on the streets of the capital, Antananarivo.

Antananarivo. They were demanding the res-ignation of the president, Didier Ratsiraka. Ratsiraka rigged the results of the 16 December presi-dential election. Opposition leader Marc Ravalomanana, the mayor of Antananarivo, is believed to have won 52 percent of the vote. The demonstrations began when the island's High Constitutional Court said that "after a recount" Ravalomanana had won 46 percent of the vote, against 40 percent for Ratsiraka.

Majority

As neither candidate had an overall majority, the court ordered a second round of voting. Madagascar is an island off the cast coast of Africa. Ratsiraka ruled Madagascar from 1975 to 1991

1991. He began by proclaiming him-self a supporter of "socialist revo-lution from above" but very quick-ly accepted an IMF austerity pro-gramme. He was removed when he lost the support of the army, but was then returned to power in the elections of 1996.

elections of 1996. Around 70 percent of the popu-lation live below the poverty line. Yet both the main candidates offer nothing but more IMF-style "liberforced to retreat A WAVE of workers' revolt A WAVE of workers revolt has swept Italy. Berlusconi, said there had been an "absolute convergence of views" between him and views" Blair.

Italy

Berlusconi

Blair. Berlusconi, whose gov-ernment includes fascists from the National Alliance, wants to scrap Article 18 of the Workers Charter. Article 18 does not allow bosses to seek workers without a good sack workers without a good reason. The CGIL, the main left wing trade union federation, organised a number of regional general strikes at the end of January in regional general strikes at the end of January in response. These were highly suc-cessful, with millions join-ing the four-hour strike. Around 70,000 demonstrat-ed in Bologna, 50,000 in Milan and Naples, 30,000 in Milan and Naples, 30,000 in Florence, 20,000 in Modena and 10,000 in Salerno. The government offered to improve public sector work-ers' contracts. All the main unions accepted and called off a planned general strike. But the independent rank and file unions Cub and Cobas, which are strong in some of the public services, went ahead with the strike. Over 100,000 people marched through the Italian capital, Rome, on the day.

marched through the Italian capital, Rome, on the day. They included striking nurses from Milan, car workers from Fiat factories, traffic wardens, firefighters, postal workers, teachers, stu-dents and transport workers. The CGIL has called a march against education cuts for Rome on 9 March.There was also a militant four-day was also a militant four-day strike involving thousands of cleaning workers on the railways.

Berlusconi wanted to rip up these temporary workers contracts and sack them all as part of his plans for pri-vatisation of the railways. Their four days of action forced the government so back down and renew their contracts back down and renew then contracts. A STOP PRESS Italy Indymedia has suf-fered a series of police raids in a clear attempt at intimidation. A number of computers and equipment were confiscated. Latest information available from italy.indymedia.org & www.indymedia.ie

Exclusive: PFI bankrupts Derry Tech

THE REALITY of the Private Finance Initiative (PFI) has hit home at the North West Institute for Further and Higher Education [NWIFHE], known in Derry by its old name, the Tech.

PFI is being used across most government departments in Northern Ireland, from SF Martin McGuinness's school building programme, to DUP Peter Robinson's transport plans. "This is value for money, the best way to fund new investment", we are told again and again. "This is real politics, not play=act-ing" socialists and trade unionists, who object are told.

It is now just a year since the NorthWin consortium handed over a new block, built under PFI, to the NWIFHE. Already, the college is £1.5 million in debt and unable to pay the exorbitant mortgage costs due to NorthWin. Courses at the col-day, obstacles continue being put in the way of the families of the dead establishing the full truth. The soldiers who carried out their masters' bidding and shot dead unarmed protestors will not have to come to Derry's Guildhall to give their evidence - they will do so from England. So, unless they win the lottery, most of the relatives will be unable to see the men who shot their loved ones give their evidence, except via a video link to Derry. The Tribunal's ruling, which allowed RUC officers giving evi-dence at the Guildhall to do so from inside what is - in effect - a wooden box, is being challenged by the families. They are afraid that the soldiers will also demand to give their evidence from inside the box.

Army

lege have had to be cancelled in order to meet the repayments. Of course, using the term 'mort-gage' implies that sooner or later the NWIFHE will pay off what it owes and the building will belong to the college. Not so. college. Not so.

When he was Minister for Finance and Personnel, Mark Durkan admitthe dthat even after 25 years of paying the excessive rents, the buildings would still belong to the PFI consortium.

Warned

Socialists warned that the situa-tion facing NWIFHE might happen. The NorthWin consortium is led by Cement Roadstone Holdings (CRH). If you're not sure where you heard of CRH, think of the Dublin Castle Tribunals into corruption and you'll remember. But it's not just the students whose courses are being cut that are suffer-ing as a result of the politicians' embrace of PFI. Ancillary staff at the Tech. - porters, cleaners, technicians, catering staff and so on - were transferred from public sector employment into private when the PFI deal was delivered. At the time, the trade unions involved, mainly Unison and the ATGWU, conceded the fight against privatisation but were triumphant at the deal they had negotiated.

The workers being transferred to the PFI consortium were to keep the PFI consortium were to keep their public sector pay and condi-tions for at least seven years. The private profiteers have now torn up the agreement and workers' pay and already conditions are being eroded - less than one year into the cerear wear deal seven year deal. If the unions had reneged on a deal as blatantly as this, bosses, politicians, and the media would be screaming blue murder. But since it's a private company, there's hardly ht s'a private company, and been a peep. Anyone in a workplace threatened with PFI should learn the lesson the of NW Institute and fight NOW to stop the disastrous effects of this cor-porate take-over of our public services.

Comment Grammar schools fight to defend privilege

THE PRIVILEGED grammar schools in North-ern Ireland launched an offensive to prevent

The notorious 11 plus which is still used to divide children into 'academic' and 'vocational' schools, is currently under review. The review process is dragging on, with some reports saying that the 11 plus will still be in place in two years time time.

time. The grammar schools can no longer defend the dis-credited 11 plus as it currently exists. But they are fight-ing a rearguard action to keep selection and maintain the divide between the privileged grammar schools and sec-ondary schools. Wilfred Mulryne, principle of Methodist College, one of the most exclusive grammar schools in Belfast, said: "We have said that the current transfer test should go but that selective education should remain." The grammar schools are bastions of middle class privilege. Children from working class families are seven times more likely to go to secondary schools than chil-dren from well-off families. Only one per cent of working class Protestant children in areas like the Shankill Road and North Belfast pass the 11 plus each year. The gram-mar schools, which are a feature of both the Catholic and the state sector in Northern Ireland, have the lowest class sizes, the lowest rates of children on free school meals and the best resources. Mulryne's Methodist Col-lege even has its own swimming pool.

BURNS REPORT FALLS SHORT

The Burns report, produced by the review body on the 11 plus, left the door open for this sort of attack by the grammar schools. The report advocates getting rid of the 11 plus exam but leaves the existing division of schools intact, proposing instead that all schools in an area would co-operate in a 'collegiate' system. This is an attempt to avoid challenging the grammar schools, which the Burns Report says will retain their own 'indi-vidual ethos'. vidual ethos'.

vidual ethos'. But the grammar schools, now assured that that their future is secure, are fighting to prevent any change which lessens their power to select pupils. The Governing Bodies Association, which links Catholic and Protestant grammar schools, are demand-ing access to the pupil profiles so that they can select the children they want and claims that the Burns Report "can only lead to the gradual introduction of all-ability schools - a comprehensive system of education."

Rejects

But it is precisely because the Burns Report rejects out-of-hand a fully-funded comprehensive system that it has left the field open to attacks by the grammar schools. The grammar schools' scare campaign is being backed by the Belfast Telegraph and by prominent figures in the Unionist Party. UUP education spokesman Danny Kennedy welcomed the grammar schools report. The main Unionist parties, Trimble's Ulster Unionists and Paisley's DUP are attempting to unite Unionists in the Assembly to defend the grammar schools, against any changes proposed by the SDLP or Sinn Fein. This is a recipe for a sectarianised argument. Sinn Fein education minister Martin McGuinness, in a problems with the Burns Report and indicated that other options, including comprehensive education, will need to be considered. McGuinness declared that "The Burns report is a set of proposals which are effectively out for consultation and can be changed, and I think it is impor-tant to state that". He also welcomed an article from David Rose of the PUP which argued that Burns should have gone for a full-funded system of secular compre-hensives. McBurness attacked the myth that the selective sys-

McGuinness attacked the myth that the selective sys-tem leads to better exam result, pointing out, "England, caricatured as a failed comprehensive system, actually has more pupils (than Northern Ireland) gaining five GCSE passes". This opens a space to fight for the com-prehensive option, which is the only way to challenge the grip of the grammar schools. John Price, from the Campaign Against Selection, says, "To get real equality in education means making all schools equal and that means a massive injection of resources into the most run-down schools and a com-prehensive system. We need to be demanding research into a fully-funded comprehensive system and that is what we will be campaigning for."

obstructs tribunal AS THE Saville Tribunal continues to reveal new information about the role of the highest level military and political establishment in the murder of 14 people in Derry on Bloody Sun-day obstacles continue being put in the way of lies asked for information about the two, so that their reliability could be tested.

could be tested. Now, lawyers for the families have requested details of the oper-ation of the secret intelligence services in the North around the time of Bloody Sunday since they believe these "may have been mobi-lized in order to mask the truth about the army's involvement in Bloody Sunday" Bloody Sunday"

Probe

Among the agencies the lawyers want the Tribunal to probe are the Information Research Department (IRD), which they describe as "a fairly shadowy department believed to have connections with the Secret Intelligence Services" and the associated Information Policy Unit, or "Psy Ops", based at British Army headquarters at Lisburn. They also want information about, and any minutes which exist of, a number of meetings involving senior British Army officers, UK government representatives and intelligence and public relations officials. officials

These include a meeting at the British Army's Lisburn headquar ters at 10pm on Bloody Sunday attended by General Robert Ford, Commander of Land Forces, Col. Maurice Tugwell, head of the Information Policy Unit, a UK Government representative and "oth-ers from Operations, Public Relations and Intelligence". This information is clearly relevant to the Inquiry but there is a real fear that instead of the truth, all the relatives of the dead will get are more Public Interest Immunity certificates.

the box. This would mean that, while the soldiers are giving their evi-dence, the families in Derry would be watching a TV screen show-ing a wooden box. So much for openness, truth and justicel Despite the fact that it set up the Inquiry, Blair's government has done the bidding of the 'securocrats', even going so far as to issue Pt blic Interest Immunity [PII] certificates preventing the release of details about two agents "Observer B" and "Infliction". Infliction is the agent said to have claimed that Martin McGuinness admitted to having fired the first shot on Bloody Sunday. Lawyers for the fami-No change under B-man

WHILE THE activities of Spe-cial Branch and other "shad-owy" groups are debated at the Saville Inquiry, a former head of Special Branch is doing very well and showing that times have not changed too much too much. "Sir" Ronnie Flanagan has just been invited by the Police Board to stay on as chief constable of the RUC, sorry PSNI, until the end of March. This five-week extension is hardly a career breakthrough but its symbolism is significant. It says "nothing has changed".

The Police Board split down the middle on sectarian lines in relation to the decision, so nothing changed there either. Flanagan doesn't have to worry about joining the dole queues at the end of March. He's already got a plum job lined up as an Inspector in "Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary".

Damning

Quite how Flanagan is seen as a fit per-son to investigate other police forces is diffi-cult to comprehend, especially given the damning details of his role in the investiga-tion of the Omagh bomb contained in the report of the Police Ombudsman. That report was particularly critical of the role of Special Branch in relation to pre-venting the atrocity in Omagh and subse-quently to the investigation. Hardly surprising that Flanagan is cosy with Special Branch, though, he used to head it up. The Special Branch has consis-tently refused to co-operate with inquiries into its activi-ties and did its best to discredit those, like John Stalker, who tried to expose it. Not only did Flanagan lead Special Branch in more recent times, he was a senior officer intimately involved in both Castlereagh and the Special Branch during the late 1970s and early 1980s.

WHAT DO SOCIALISTS SAY

Henry Kissinger war crimina

HENRY KISSINGER is the biggest war criminal of the last half century, and he is visiting Ireland. He will not be arrested and dragged off to the cell and the trial he deserves. Instead he will be chauffeurdriven in a luxury limousine to a con-ference of fat cats.

AT HIS trial in The Hague former Serbian leader Slobodan Milosevic is accused of horrendous crimes, and he is undoubtedly a monster.

a monster. The charges against him are not that he pulled the trigger to personally kill his many victims, but that he is "morally responsible" for their deaths.

By that standard, Henry Kissinger's crimes are on an almost unbelievable scale. In 1969 he became National Security Assistant to newly inau gurated US president Richard Nixon.

He went on to become Nixon's Secretary of State and the effective number two in the US administration.

One of Kissinger's first acts in 1969 was to organise the secret invasion and carpet-bombing of Cambodia

In just 14 months B-52 bombers flew 3,630 mis-sions in an operation codenamed "Menu". Each day's bombing was labelled "Breakfast", "Lunch" and "Dinner", as ton after ton of high explosives rained down on Cambodian villages, fulfilling what one US gener-al called "bombing them back into the Stone Age". Journalist William Shawcross, in his book on the Cambodian war, Sideshow, describes how "that summer's war provides a lasting image of peasant boys and girls clad in black, moving slowly through the mud, half-crazed with terrors, as fighter-bombers tore down at them by day, and night after night whole seas of 750-pound bombs smashed all around."

No one knows how many people died in the Cambodian war as a Cambodian war as a direct result of US bombing.

At 600.000 least Cambodians died in all before the US-backed regime was toppled in were supplied by the US. Philip Liechtly later tes tified, "I was the CIA desk officer in the Indonesian capital, Jakarta. I saw the intelligence that came from hard, firm sources in East Timor. There were people being herded into school buildings and the

There were people herded into fields and machine-gunned. "We knew the place was a free fire zone and that Suharto was given the green light by the US. We sent rifles, ammunition, mortars, grenades, helicopters. You name it, they got it, and they got it direct."

Latin America is anoth-er continent where there are people who remember the bloody trail left by

Bloody trail left

across the world

Salvador Allende was elected as president of Chile in 1970 Kissinger tried to organise a coup to overthrow him.

before a Chilean general,

Schneider, who opposed

That plot failed, but not

SOCIALIST

Henry Kissinger.

WHEN

buildings set on fire.

Kissenger with latest friend George Bush 1975. And it was the hor-ror inflicted by the US that Some 200,000 people, a third of the population, died as a result of the Indonesian occupation. At created the conditions in which the Khmer Rouge least 90 percent of the arms used in East Timor by the Indonesian forces regime that came to power then went on to inflict even more death and horror on Cambodia. Kissinger and Nixon kept their Cambodian war secret at first, even from other US politicians. When the truth came out they were forced to call a halt to the bombing campaign. By then, in just over a year, the US had dropped 539,129 tons of bombs on Cambodia, over three times what US forces dropped on Japan in the whole of the Second World War

Death his favoured Christmas present

CAMBODIA WAS only one of the horrors that Kissinger was responsi-ble for in South East Asia. In December 1972 he personally persuaded Nixon to order one of the most horrific episodes of the whole Vietnam War. Between 18 and 29 December B-52s carpetbombed Hanoi, the capital of North Vietnam.

The "Christmas bombing" campaign saw 40,000 tons of bombs dropped on the city, blasting schools and hospitals, and wiping out whole residential blocks. Thousands of people were killed and many more maimed. Indochina was just the start of Kissinger's career as a war criminal.

In December 1975 he paid a personal visit to dictator General Subarto in Indonesia to give the go-ahead for the invasion of neighbouring East Timor.

Just hours later, as Kissinger's plane left the country, the Indonesian regime launched its forces across the border

the coup plans, had been ass sassinated. Kissenger said, "No country should be allowed to go Marxist due should to the irresponsibility of its people."

Three years later the Chilean ruling class and armed forces themselves organised a coup to overthrow Allende. Kissinger ensured that the coup got full US assis-tance as General Pinochet's military regime killed thousands of people.

Kissinger was then up to his neck in "Operation Condor", an operation in which the armed forces of Chile, Argentina and other regimes in the southern "cone" of Latin America carried out assassina-tions, abductions, torture and murder of their opponents.

Kissinger has left his mark on every continent. In South Asia, Kissinger was involved in backing the Pakistani regime which slaughtered thousands of people as it tried to stop Bangladesh winning its Independence in 1971.

If ever there was a living person who should be standing before a war crimes tribunal it is Henry Kissinger.

Yet instead he is still feted by academics, policy-makers and businessmen across the Western world. He lives a luxurious life protected by the US government he long served. He makes fortune as an advisor to the arms industry.

In a grotesque parody, Henry Kissinger was actu-ally awarded the Nobel peace prize. That this man is not in the dock shows the hollowness of Western leaders' claims to stand up against injustice.

Heinz means massacres

Henry Kissinger was one of the few defenders of the Chinese government when they massacred pro-democracy demonstrators in Tiannemen square, saying "No Government in the world would have tolerated having the main square of its capital occupied for eight weeks by tens of thousands of demonstators."

His sympathy for the butchers of Tianemmen of course had nothing to do with his job at the time getting Heinz baby food onto the market.

The then Heinz CEO Tony O'Reilly said of Kissenger's work: "Kissenger makes a real contribution, and we think they are particularly helpful ... in that shadowy world.

ON FEBRUARY 8 one of the nuclear reactors at Sellafield had to be temporarily shut down.

A "de-fuelling" operation to take fuel rods out of the reactor "core" was underway when a basket containing 24 spent fuel rods fell from a discharge shaft at the top of the giant plant. Defuelling is supposed to trans-fer the radioactive rods to water flasks, where they are cooled from the high temperatures reached during nuclear reactions. The rods were left avorsed to the atmosphere within the exposed to the atmosphere within the led plant, presenting the risk of fire.

A leading English nuclear expert. Dr John Large, described the acci-dent as "incredible". "An accident involving radioactive nuclear fuel is very serious. Because of continuing radioactive decay, these rods are selfheating

It is just the latest in a long line of accidents. According to Laurence Williams, the British government's official chief inspector of nuclear installations, "I make no bones about it. Sellafield is probably the most hazardous site in the UK." Here Socialist Worker looks at why Sellafield should be shut down.

Hazardous

When nuclear power was intro-duced into Britain in the 1950s its supporters said it was safe and would "produce electricity too cheap to meter"

An early newsreel in the 1950s described how it would produce cheap, clean, energy for everyone. This was completely untrue.

This was completely untrue. The growth in nuclear power was linked to the use of atomic weapons during the Cold War. The first nuclear power stations were built to produce plutonium for nuclear weapons. Any electricity was seen as a by-product that was used primarily to power the rest of the site. The development of the British atomic bomb was seen as a matter of urgency during the Cold War years of the 1950s and 1960s. Dealing with the mess caused by the production, operating and even testing of nuclear weapons was something to be wor-ried about later, if at all. This lack of thought for the future spilled over to the nuclear power industry. As the military and then the civil nuclear industries expanded world-wide, it was thought that uranium was a rare mineral and would soon be in very short surply.

be in very short supply Rather than simply burn up the uranium in the power stations, it was decided to reprocess the used fuel in order to extract various usable ele-ments from it.

ments from it. These elements included plutoni-um which was essential for making atomic bombs. Soon reprocessing was widely used to produce the plutonium need-ed for nuclear weapons. The whole process was always a risky and dangerous business but when accidents occurred they were often covered up. In 1973 there was an accident at

In 1973 there was an accident at Selfafield involving a steam explo-sion and escape of radioactive gas. One plant had to be permanently closed down but in 1977 the new Thermal Oxide Reprocessing Plant (THORP) was proposed which pro-duces very large quantities of dan-errous waste gerous waste.

Dangerous Liars

One of many Sellafield scandals arose from lies about shipments of nuclear fuel pellets. British Nuclear Fuels Ltd. (BNFL) sent shipments to Japan and claimed the consignment had undergone the full range of safe-had undergone the full range of safe-ty checks. But a key part of the safety test had not been done and instead the results were simply invented. At first it was claimed this was just an isolated incident. But a report by the Nuclear Installations Inspectorate found that the lying was systematic systematic.

Records involving 88,000 nuclear fuel pellets had been "deliberately falsified" since 1986.

Potentially the misinformation about the size of the fuel pellets could have led to a nuclear reaction.

A history disaster

ONE OF the world's first nuclear accidents took place at Sellafield a year after it was opened.

In 1957 a huge fire at the plant, which was then called Windscale, spewed radioactive material called Windscate, operational radioactive material across the Irish Sea. But the full truth was have a statement said "There was not a large amount of radiation released. The amount of radiation released. The amount of radiation was not hazardous and in fact it was carried out to sea by the wind." Thirty years later it was admitted that a large quantity of hazardous radiation was blown south east, across most of England and parts of Ireland. The truth only came out after a number of studies of birth deformities in parts of the east coast of Ireland.

that appea aled with 1 In 1981, dants, the was chang presumab the public get all ab But in the worlo more leth ters. ters: Amo Thre 1979 the I at Three into "mel appalling at a react A ful explosion avoided. Che nuclear Chernoby exploded died im huge ra spewed huge are is still de peliets story of

DIS D ---- ety test ead the sters

nts

old

125

t appeared to be associ-ed with the accident. In 1981, after further acci-test, the name of the plant changed to Sellafield -resumably in the hope that public would quickly for-el al about Windscale. prid's

But in the years since, e world has seen even ore lethal nuclear disas-the worst are: Three Mile Island, in 1979 the US nuclear reactor t Three Mile Island went inter "meltdown", the most appalling possible incident af a reactor.

A full scale nuclear explosion was only narrowly Chernobyl. In 1986 the noclear reactor at Chemobyl in the Ukraine exploded. Over 50 people dime immediately and a huge radioactive cloud Spowed across Europe A spewed across Europe. A still deadly today.

THE PROBLEMS of long term, secure storage of nuclear waste is still unsolved and is growing more acute year by year.

Earlier attempts by the nuclear industry to get rid of their waste by dumping it in the sea were stopped by a combina-tion of environmental direct action and trades union protests. Sellafield is an old site and has grown up in an unplanned way. New buildings are fitted in between old. sometimes abandoned build-old, sometimes abandoned build-ings. Some areas and buildings are sealed off and polluted by radioac-tivity, causing severe pollution of the nearby Irish Sea. Waste from other nuclear plants around Britain is stored at Sellafield. Armed ships also carry waste to the plant from Germany and Japan. They have no sollution for stor-ing the industry's high-level waste. This waste is very dangerous and so any storage facility has to be made secure and safe over a period of thousands of years.

MOX fuel is even more deally than plutonium, remaining danger-ous for over 250,000 years. MOX can be burnt in certain types of nuclear power stations but it is more expensive than straightforward uranium fuel and the Forward uranium rule and the British nuclear power station opera-tors have already said that they see no reason to spend money to con-vert their power stations to burn it. BNFL having already built a MOX manufacturing plant, are now looking round for overseas cus-tomers for their new product

What a waste

In fact they have staked their future profits on MOX, hoping to make up to £1 billion a year from their MOX husiness their MOX business. MOX safety tests have been revealed as lies. The pellets were supposed to be measured. But key stages were missed out and readings falsified. If the pellets were even a small amount different to the planned size they could be dan-gerous when being shipped. A nuclear reaction could start.

What we think

SOCIALISTS are opposed to nuclear power because it is an irrational way to produce energy that is linked to the needs of the military establishment.

If coal was subsidised on the same scale as nuclear power, it could huclear power, it could be given out for free and there would still be a surplus left over. The Thorp and MOX plants alone, a small part of the Sellafield complex, cost some STg £2.2 billion just to build. In the 1990s alone the nuclear industry also nuclear industry also received £7.8 billion in subnuclear sidies

The billions poured into nuclear power could instead be used to produce the kind of things people really need. In a decent society, that would include a programme to insulate houses properly so that energy is not squandered. Today there is a new attempt to justify nuclear power.

power. It is clamed that it can cut down on burning fossil fuels like coal and gas, which produce the green-house gases behind global Warming. We need to cut carbon emissions but nuclear power is far from the solution.

tion. It brings with it the risk of both short-term disas-ter in the event of an acci-dent, and long term envi-ronmental disaster from the build-up of deadly waste products.

Pumped

Instead, the money pumped by governments into nuclear power could go towards developing clean, safe alternatives such as wind, wave, tidal and solar power while every Irish politi-cal party claims to be opposed to Sellafield no amount of tea-time chats between Ahern and Blair -or Adams and Bush for that matter - will get rid of or Adams and Bush for that matter - will get rid of Nuclear power. Tens of thousands protested to keep Nuclear power out of Ireland. We need to mobilise the same numbers in Ireland and numbers in Ireland and Britain to shut Sellafield

The real Mother and Child scheme: When Church and politicians stopped a health service

HE religious right went on the offen-Abortion Referendum. The fundamentalist Youth Defence restyled The themselves for the campaign as the Mother and Child Campaign.

But the real story of the mother and child campaign in the 1940s was of the religious right combining with with right wing politicians to with-hold healthcare from women something they are still doing today. At the end of the Second World War. Irish health care was a disaster and in serious need of reform, Noel Browne was a doctor who had himself suffered from the scourge of TB. He became Minister for Health in the became Minister for Health in the coalition government of 1949. Browne's party, Clan na Phoblachta, was a moderately left wing Republican party. It was led by the former IRA Chief of Staff Sean MacBride. It was one of a group of small parties - including two Labour Parties - in a coalition government clustered around Fine Gael. With eighteen months the Fine Gael. Within eighteen months the new Minister had reorganized, improved, and streamlined the Irish Health Service to a degree never achieved before.

He had abolished queuing for tubercular treatment, provided financial help for patients and their dependents and built sanato-riums for the treatment of TB.

He launched a £20,000,000 hospital scheme, designed to give Ireland one of the most up-to-date Ireland one of the most up-to-date hospital services in the world. This comprised a national cancer service, a nutritional survey, and, last but not least, a Mother and Child Scheme. In fact, the last was the most important of all. The reason was an obvious one: Ireland's infant death-rate was the worst in the whole of Europe. During the previous fifty years, other European countries had at least halved the death-rate, many bringing it down by more many bringing it down by more than three quarters. "Ireland alone is a clear exception to this rule," stated a World Health Organization report which showed that Ireland's death-rate was still seventy-five per cent of the rate common at the end of the last century. That meant an infant mortality rate that was nearly treble that of England and Wales

The plan was to give a free medical service to all mothers and children, without any means test. He wanted to give mothers specialist gynecological care and to introduce a health education programme. To avoid friction with the reli-

To avoid inction with the reli-gious authorities, Browne speci-fied in advance that the "educa-tion" would be physical and not moral. Doctors, it was directed, were to help in the promotion of these new measures. But the medical profession

But the medical profession proved to be far more concerned with money-making than with social welfare. Terrified of losing fees they launched a vicious attack on the scheme. The views of the medical profession are, perhaps, best reflect-ed in a letter that one Dr John Stanely of Merrion Square, Dublin wrote to the Irish Times.

He denounced "this insidious effort to enslave medical practice" and went on to blame the Russian revolutionary Lenin for the idea of the Mother and Child scheme!

But the most dangerous opponents of the scheme were Catholic hierarchy.

RELAND was supposed to be a Catholic state for a Catholic people.

Archbishop John McQuaid had formed a close partner-ship with the Fianna Fail leader, Eamonn de Valera to control all aspects of Irish society.

The measure of his influence was seen in the 1937 Constitution, which de Valera introduced.

This recognised the "special position of the Catholic Church" and stated that "The most Holy Trinity" was the source of all authority. Divorce and contracep-tion were banned. Women were defined solely as homemakers and mothers and mothers.

De Valera had even sent McQuaid the proofs of the constitution for his approval before they were presented to the cabinet.

ONTROL of the hospitals and the schools were vested in the hands of the church. Many books were banned and a law was passed which gave the state the right to exclude married women from the workplace.

The labour movement was by no means immune from the influence of the Catholic Church.

In 1951 one of the two Irish trade union congresses sent a telegram to the Pope claiming that their affiliated unions were 'humbly prostrate at the feet of his Holinae'

Holmess'. During the 1940s, McQuaid used the Catholic Standard to witch hunt socialists and to split the labour movement.

When Browne's scheme became public, McQuaid launched a campaign against the "totaliatarianism" of free health care

He denounced the Mother and Child scheme as 'socialist medicine'. He wrote to the Vatican say-ing, "The attack is directed from Communists elements in Europe and in the Irish Workers League ... When I broadcast on the issue I well conceine to give the supping ... When I broadcast on the issue I took occasion to give the warning that the attack on the church in Ireland would come under the guise of social reform." The Bishops set up an inquisi-tional court, composed of the Archbishop of Dublin, the Bishop of Ferns, and the Bishop of Galway and having summoned the Health Minister before it, they duly interrogated him. The bishops then simply read

The bishops then simply read out a letter: "In their opinion the powers taken by the State in the proposed Mother and Child Health Service are in direct opposition to the rights of the family and of the individual and are liable to very great abuse... If adopted in law they would constitute a ready made instrument for future totali-tarian aggression.

made instrument for future totali-tarian aggression. "The right to provide for the health of children belongs to par-ents, not to the State. The State has the right to intervene only in a subsidiary capacity, to supple-ment, not to supplant. "Gynaecological care may be, and in some countries is, inter-preted to include provision for birth limitation and abortion. We have no guarantee that

We have no guarantee that State officials will respect Catholic principles in regard to these matters. Doctors trained in institutions in which we have no

the factual instrument of government on all important social and economic policies in the confidence may be appointed as model officers under the pro-posed services, and may give gynaecological care not in accor-dance with Catholic principles..." Then, having dismissed the Halth Minister, they summoned the Taoiseach before their Tribunal. John Costello, howev-er, was flattered and informed the Dublin had "kindly sent for him". Browne wrote in his autobiog-raphy Against the Tide that "The hierarchy had become the factual instrument of government on all important social and economic policies in the Republic. Mur prospects for the preser-vation of an effective Cabinet and a badly needed health scheme were now changed utterly ROWNE was pre-B pared to compro-mise. And at one point he introduced the idea of a charge for the scheme. But such was the power of the church that no compromises were allowed.

The hierarchy had condemned the scheme, Costello told the Dail. Therefore the Irish Government had to comply and reject the Mother and Child Scheme. Archbishop McQuaid wrote Costello's speech for him.

Costello declared "As a Catholic, I obey my Church authorities, and will continue to do so.

"There is going to be no flout-ing of the Bishops on Catholic morals and social teaching," con-firmed the as radical then as now

Norton "In Ireland a conflict between the spiritual and temporal authorabour party, lead by William ities is damaging to national unity," added Sean MacBride, ordering his party colleague, Noel Browne, to surrender his office office.

There were protests in Dublin against the abolition of the scheme.

Scheme. But Noel Browne made little effort to mobilize people in favour of the scheme. He still believed that good medical care would come from enlightened politicians rather then from change from below.

than from change from below. In a desperate move, he even went so far as to join Fianna Fail briefly. But having failed to mobilize people in his support, he lost his seat at the next election.

Afterwards Browne moved back onto the left. He was the first politician to speak in favour of abortion rights in the Oireachtas. He was the first to denounce the treatment of children in industrial schools.

dren in industrial schools. Over fifty years after the defeat of the Mother and Child scheme, Ireland still has a reli-gious run two-tier health system. We still have politicians using church 'morality' to decide the fate of women's health. For that to change the labour movement will have to overcome the cowardice of the 1950's and fight for a free health services that excludes private medicine. And a No vote in the referen-

And a No vote in the referendum that leads to a fight for a woman's right to choose can speed that happening.

New Socialist Worker pamphlet:

Abortion: Why Irish women must have the right to choose by Goretti Horgan

> 2.50 from SW sellers

"The hierarchy had become Republic"

film Monster INCome

THE CONTRADIC-TIONS of Monsters Inc. killed Chuck Jones -the great Warner Bros animator who whose death was announced as write this. Disney, with all the power of an evil corporation is pushing a tale about, well, an evil corporation.

Every television channel has a product placement for Monster Inc.

Outside of the now predictable burger and confectionary tie-ins, newspapers and even washing powder are trying to sell more stuff on the more stuff on the back of Monster Inc.

The setting is Monstropolis, the home of a collection of comic, and not so comic, (you guessed it) monsters.

Trained

They're the stuff of nightmares and they're trained at a special factory to enter the bedrooms of little boys and girls sleep-ing in the human world and suck in their screams.

The children's horrified reactions are then processed into the chief processed into the chier energy source that keeps Monstropolis going. The economy is domi-nated by the giant energy corporation Monsters, Inc, which is facing a fiasco of Enron proportions. The problem is that kids

Executive.

Resistance.

Charlotte, played by Cate Blanchett, wants to defeat fascism and search for her missing lover. She is sent to work with the French Hesistance. After being parachuted into a small village in southern France, Charlotte experiences life under the Vichy govern-ment. The Vichy were ioned energy crisis. The goodies are the worker monsters and the baddies these days are not so eas-ily scared. They are jaded, at least partly as a result of the are the monster bosses ever-more spectacular entertainment (such as Monsters Inc) thrown at The workers stumble on a despicable plot by man-agement and are left standing in the way of "progress".

Workers in blue fur or a marketing scam?

But never fear - they find a solution, and save the day. Monstropolis, which steals power from the rest of the world by theft and So Monstropolis is on the infliction of pain, is actually the United States itself, who with a popula-tion of around five per cent of our planet consumes more than 25 per cent of the world's energy.

That you can put lots of computer generated blue hair on this tale and use it to sell washing powder is as disturbing as stealing children's screams.

But at least there are no songs.

Palestine Under occupation

JOAN BEAZLEIGH is a member of the member of the Campaign for Palestinian Rights. She joined an international solidarity delegation to the Palestinian territo-ries. She told Socialist Worker about her experiences.

'EVERYWHERE we went we bumped into a funeral. We went to the town of Salfeet in the West Bank. Many houses had been bulldozed just two days before we'd got there.

They'd built a little hospital. It has four beds and two doctors for 60,000 people. People from Ramallah have to use the hospital as well. There are lots of still-biethe hirths.

births. Every Palestinian was on a state of alert for the whole two weeks that I was there. You couldn't do the nor-mal things you would do in other cities. This is an occupation, and the Israelis are behaving like occupiers. The Israelis had invaded Nablus and shot Hosni, a young graduate, just days before we arrived. He had three children.

days before we arrived. He had three children. He went to tell his friend that the Israelis were coming and the soldiers shot him in the head - they said he was a militant! There are checkpoints everywhere. I always refuse to show my pass-everywhere. I always refuse to show my pass-port because what Israel is doing is against international law. If you wave a Palestinian flag anywhere in the Palestinian areas you will be arrested. All across Palestine there are roads that join up the Israeli settle-ments. These are military zones con-trolled by the Israelis. Palestinians cannot drive on these roads. Israel puts roadblocks across Palestinian villages so people can't get in and out. We went to the village of Yassouf to remove the roadblocks there. there.

Remove

If people want to get anywhere they have to come out of town, climb over the two roadblocks, and then get a service taxi from the other side. A journey that should take half an hour could take hours. The only way Palestinians can get food into villages is to have trucks back to back across the roadblocks. Palestinians cannot remove these roadblocks themselves because the Israelis would shoot them. This is an everyday story of life in

The settlers are built this way. The settlers go by in their cars with due ir guns - they're more dan-gerous than the soldiers. They shoot without provocation. The Israelis have built pipes to carry sewage down to the river, which is the only water the Palestinians have. To get to Bir Zeit University stu-dents have to go through the check-point. The Israeli soldiers sometimes keep them waiting for hours. They take away IDs and do not give them back. Students and people going to work are just held up at the checkpoint for half a day for no rea-son. We demolished the checkpoint and formed a human chain that the Palestinians could walk through. The road was clear for the whole day. People could walk from Ramallah to Bir Zeit. In the after-noon the Israelis sent soldiers and tanks. They started shooting teargas. I was hit with teargas myself. Before I joined the international delegation I stayed with some Palestinian friends who live in Ramallah on the West Bank. Bank

Bank. They have two children of school age who hadn't been able to go to school for six months because of the Israeli closure. Their school was destroyed in December as it backs onto a Palestinian police headquar-ters that Israel blew up. Yet this situ-ation I have described in the West Bank is nowhere near as bad as it is in the Gaza Strin.

Bank is nowhere near as bad as it is in the Gaza Strip. One million people live in the Gaza Strip. It is the most overpopu-lated area in the world. The Israelis wouldn't allow us to go there. They attacked our group and hospitalised some people when we tried to enter Gaza."

Gaza." Overall there are three and a half million Palestinian refugees. The majority still live in refugee camps. Nobody has the right to take away their right to return. Yet every Jewish person can go and live in Israel. Everywhere we went we saw soldiers with orns

Werywhere we we have a set of the generation of the set of the set the Germans." He turned around and said to her, "Does that mean you think we are like the Nazis?" "Yes," she replied. He just went berserk, waving his gun around. It's incredible. The Israelis are so blinded to what they are doing. The mood of the Palestinians was modified slightly by the fact that we were there. I couldn't help wondering how awful it is for them when we're not there. In Palestine just getting clean or hot water or going down the road is difficult. But the more oppressed the or hot water or going down the road is difficult. But the more oppressed the Palestinians are, the more defiant they become. The younger people are very angry. The peace process was a traud from the beginning. The Israelis were still building set-set of the section of the set of the section of the beginning. The Israelis were still building set-stilling more. How many Palestinians have to die? They are the word oppressed people in the world, the peace process collapsed all the word oppressed leaders blamed vaser Arafat. They said Israel had made many palestinian Authority would have just 22 percent of land, most of it covered with Israeli settlements and roads. This has been misrepresented for so long."

French politicians who col-laborated with the Nazi regime. Charlotte is a little taken aback when she is told that the people she is working with are told that the people site is working with are Communists. However, she realises that although she does not share their beliefs they have a common enemy in the fascists.

Charlotte's desperate search to find her lover conflict with her commit-ment to the Resistance, with tragic consequences. It becomes apparent that the British govern-ment considers the Communists, who are the backbone of the Resistance, as big a threat shows how anti-Semitism takes a hold in the French choose Whether to suffer-der his father or two boys whose parents have already been deported. The bitter reality of Vichy collaboration with the Nazis is brought home in a key scene when a the Nazis is brought home in a key scene when a train packed full of Jewish people leaves the local station. Hordes of local people, crying and screaming, force their way past armed German guards to pass on loaves of bread, or simply to hold the hand of a friend, neighbour or a stranger.

Grav is essentially a love story set against a backdrop of adventure and breathtaking scenery. The director, Gillian Anderson, has said that because she is Australian, she can be objective: " can see both sides and not be judgemental about how the French behaved during the occupation."

There is a fine line between detachment and glossing over the facts. The Vichy regime was responsible for the deaths of thousands of Jews. Hundreds of Communists died fighting in the Resistance. The film is too ambiguous about these events

the verge of an old-fashfilm

Too many shades of grey

Charlotte as the fascists. The film SET IN occupied

France during the Second World War, Charlotte Gray tells the story of a young Scottish woman who is recruited to the British Special Operations them.

Desperate

takes a hold in the French village, but also how it is challenged. The villages have to give up a quota of Jews to be sent to concentration camps. One man has to choose whether to surren-

They yawn at the night-time scarers of corporate produced terror; and their flesh is uncreeped. increasingly Workers create all the wealth in capitalist soci-ety. A new society can only be constructed when they collectively seize control of that wealth and plan its production and distribution.

FOR REVOLUTION, NOT REFORM

The present system can-not be reformed out of existence. Parliament cannot be used to end the system.

The courts army and police are there to defend the interests of the capi-talist class not to run society in a neutral fash-ion.

Society in a neutral fash-ion. To destroy capitalism, workers need to smash the state and create a workers' state based on workers' councils. FOR REAL SOCIALISM, EAST AND WEST The SWP welcomed the break-up of the USSR and the end of the East Euro-pean dictatorships. These states were not socialist but were run by a state-capitalist class. We are against the domi-nation of the globe by imperialist powers and we oppose their wars. We are for the right of all nations, East and West, to self-determination. FOR AN END TO

FOR AN END TO

ALL OPPRESSION We oppose all forms of oppression which divide and weaken the working class. We are for full social, economic and political equality for women.

social, economic and political equality for women. We stand for: free contra-ception and free, legalised abortion and the right to divorce; the complete separation of church and state, an end to church control over schools and hospitals; an end to dis-crimination against gays and lesbians; an end to racism and anti-traveller bigotry. We argue for working class unity in the fight against oppression. FOR WORKERS' UNITY IN THE NORTH

NORTH

NORTH Northern Ireland is a sec-tarian state, propped up by the British Army. Catholic workers are sys-tematically discriminated against by the state. The division between Catholic and Protestant workers weakens the whole work-ing class. Workers' unity can only be won and maintained in a fight to smash both the Northern and Southern states.

states

states. We stand for the immedi-ate withdrawal of British troops. Violence will only end when workers unite in the fight for a workers' republic.

FOR A FIGHTING MOVEMENT

MOVEMENT Trade unions exist to defend workers' interests. But the union leaders' role is to negotiate with capitalism—not to end it. We support the leaders when they fight but oppose them when they betray workers. We stand for independent rank and file action.

FOR A REVOLUTIONARY PARTY

PARTY To win socialism socialists need to organise in a rev-olutionary party. This party needs to argue against right-wing ideas and for over-throwing the system. The SWP aims to build such a party here.

Accident & Emergency nurses Taking action to fight for the health service

Across the country nurses are in revolt at the state of the health scr-vice. The nursing unions are ballot-ing for industrial action in accident

Aready INO members in the adult A&E Departments of the adult A&E Departments of the adult A&E Departments. More than 400 members of the Insh Nurses Organisation and up to 200 SIPTU members are expected to strongly back the industrial action over overcrowding in accident and emergency departments. Among the main concerns of nurses is management of beds and that consultants are not available when beds might otherwise be filled. Already INO members in the adult A&E Department of Tallaght Hospital were on a work-to-rule ahead of the ballots. The INO has outlined a series of two- and three-hour strikes to begin on March 13th. The government attempted to on March 13th. The government attempted to head off the action by calling for forums across the country to discuss the crisis. But as one Nurse told Socialist Worker, "The government will do anything to stop industrial action except actually doing any-thing to solve the problem. A gov-ernment inspired talking shop won't solve the overcrowding and the ridiculous hours people are work-ing." ing.

ing." According to a nurse in Cork University hospital Cork University Hospital, "On any one night, we could have up to 40 patients on trol-leys in hospital corridors, with no division for men and women, no respect for privacy or dignity. People come in with broken bones and have to wait days to go into surgery because we can't get a bed for them," she savs.

because we can't get a bed for them," she says. "Every day, I end up moving trol-leys and apologising for a situation that I have no control over, instead of giving nursing care. I don't think people realise how bad it is until they have to come to A&E. They're usual-ly stunned at the state of the place." A staff nurse in Beaumont Hospi-tal's A&E department for three years, says patients who arrive alert become acutely confused as time goes on. "When they eventually get a bed, they're acutely confused. They don't know whether it's day or night. Consider how distressing this is for someone who is already sick and may have suffered a stroke. One night we had five patients over 80 on night we had five patients over 80 on trolleys." One night recently, there were 47 people on trolleys in Beaumont wait-ing for beds, some for up to three days, with another 100 in casualty. Because of the overcrowding: "Very shortly someone's going to die. There's no doubt about that." accord-ing to one nurse ing to one nurse.

RS)

UISP

ON

And according to another nurse, "We effectively have to run a ward as well as an A&E department and the well as an A&E department and the situation is getting worse. It's very frustrating and disheartening for staff who are not able to deliver qual-ity care. Not a day has gone by in November or December that I didn't see one or more of my colleagues cry." A report in the All Ireland Jour-nal of Nursing & Midwifery, sug-gests up to 13,500 extra nurses are needed to deliver the Government's Health Strategy. The publication also reports that more than 60 percent of nurses leaving the profession are aged between 20 and 29. сгу

STUDENT NURSES at Waterford Regional Hospital staged two protests in pursuit of a meal allowance claim, and are set to the escalate the dispute.

The students, members of the Irish Nurses Organisation, protested outside the hospital at lunchtime, because they are not given parity with colleagues elsewhere in the State.

Student nurses normally receive three meals a day during their three years of training. The 160 student nurses at Waterford Regional Hospital are not in a position to access canteen facilities on a regular basis. They were seeking instead "a reasonable payment" to reflect the cost of their meals.

Friday & & Caturday O Man h

xt for usic and

Striking against Blairism- Lessons from the winter of discontent MARTIN SMJ111, NIA11 MORTON

COLM BRYCE

FORUM: Thinking globally, acting locally – the struggle for international socialism today CAROLINE VAN OS, MARTIN SMITH, KIERAN ALLEN

	F	rida	ay o & Satu	rday 9 March
	C W	Queens /ww.s/	University Student Unio wp.ie or Phone 079	on, University Road, Belfast 944245374 for details
		Time	Room A	Room B
	Friday	5.30 - 6.45	The Private Finance Initiative and the corporate takeover of public services MARK HEWITT, SEAN SMYTH	Argentina – from resistance to revolution JOE CAROLAN
		7.00 - 8.15	FORUM on North Belfast: Why hasn't the peace process ended sectarianism? PETER SHIRLOW, SEAN MCVEIGH + Iloly Cross parent	Can we stop capitalism destroying the environment? RORY HEARN
		8.30 - 9.30	FORUM: From Genoa to Buenos Aires – what's next for the anti-capitalist movement? BARBARA MULDOW, JUDITH CRR
	Saturday	10.30 - 11.45	Plan Colombia, the debt crisis and US imperlatism in Latin America DES BOYLE (Latin American Street Children's Organisation), JENNY BRYCE	Sex. class and socialism - the fight for womens' liberation GORETTI HORGAN
	Sat	12.00	After Afghanistan – what next for US imperialism? JUDITH CRR	From Motown to hip-hop – black music an rebellion MARTIN SMITH
		1.15 - 2.00	VIDEO: Another World is Possible introduction by eyewitnesses	e - the Genoa protests against the GB with
		2.00 - 3.15	Is the Celtic Tiger a model for the Northern Ireland economy? KIERAN ALLEN	What's behind the rise of Islamic fundamentalism? RYAN McKINNEY
	1	3.30 -	Can the IMF and World Bank be	Republicanism - from armed struggle to

Can the IMF and World Bank be reformed? DAVY CARLIN, JUBILEE 2000 Speaker

The media and war - is truth the first casualty? EAMONN MCCANN

3 30 -4.45

5.00 6.15

6.30 -7.15

MARXISM

Global resistance

Abortion referendum pro choice activist groups:

Eray (Dave 01-2304621)
 Cabra(Helena 0879707911)
 Dublin city centre (Sinead 0872612634)
 Tolianht (Allce 01-4539085)
 Maynooth (Jenny

feeling gan.

more

One reason for this is due to the amount of solidarity that has developed hetween workers at Royal mail. In Scotland workers stopped for two hours in support of striking postal workers here following the murder of Daniel McCol-

inside the post office.

Fights are set to continue

Privatisation is on the horizon after the postal regulator in London announced the de-regulation of the post office. As well as this the post office are set to sack

30.000 workers in the next demand that all these issues are taken up in the strike gle issue will not be enough.

a political challenge to the government's priorities of privatisation and running down public services.

CWU activists must

A narrow focus on a sin-

The CWU has to mount

18 months.

campaign.

about their strength.

confident

news & reports/politics/industry/the unions (01) 8722682 /fax (01) 872 3838 e-mail swp@clubi.ie / www.clubi.ie/swp 77

PHONE REPORTS ABOUT STRIKES/LOCAL CAMPAIGNS/PROTESTS

Union elections

Left wins in T&G and NIPSA Strike set for March 6

WATERFORD Crystal chief shop steward Jimmy Kelly, topped the poll in Ireland in the ATGWU recent Executive Ballot. Jimmy was reelected to the General Executive Council along with Norman Cairns, shop steward in Shorts, Belfast.

The seat for the public sector workers was won by Dawn Stewart, Belfast. This gives the left of the ATGWU in Ireland a historic three executive council seats.

Victory

The outcome is a significant victory for the opposi-tion to the right wing drift of the ATGWU and comes just before the Executive Council of the Transport & Gen-eral Workers Union are to announce the outcome of a

THE recent General

Council elections to the Nipsa resulted in 13 of the 25 places going to

Time for Change candidates. This means that the broad left now have a majority on General

the platform of fighting for a strong democratic union controlled by the members.

There is a need for a ank and file movement within the civil service.

Many members in more iso-lated branches but also from large (300+) workplaces complain of a lack of involvement in decision-making within the union. Many branches are more

The TfC group stood on Council.

rank

of

governing body

so-called investigation into the conduct of Regional Secretary Michael O'Reilly. O'Reilly and another official, Eugene McGlone were suspended on spurious charges of irregularities in the Belfast office last Summer.

The election campaign conducted by Jimmy Kelly focused on the undemocratic activities at the top of the union. Jimmy called for the re-instatement of the officials and for a rejection of the centralised control of the union as did Dawn Stewart in Belfast.

Campaign

In every region of Ireland shop stewards and branch committee members campaigned vigorously for a vote for Jimmy Kelly. Richie Brown, chief shop steward in Team FLS said, "This is a great victory said, "This is a great victory for rank and file of the union. The campaign for Jimmy was against the tide of the leadership of the union. "They want to turn their or less dormant.

Time for Change

backs on our stand against so-called social partnership, our support for the train dri-vers in the ILDA and most importantly they don't want rank and file control of the union. That is what we now have to set out to achieve." Sean, a shop steward in Belfast Citybus told Social-ist Worker, "This is about telling the union leaders that have to listen to the and file. Jimmy Kelly they ran and Norman Cairns were the candidates of the rank and file – not the "yes" men that Bill Morris wants to surround himself with."

Jimmy Kelly's ballot paper clearly stated that a vote for him would register rejection of the members of the suspensions of the two officials and a desire to bring the ATGWU back into real democratic control of the membership.

As Jimmy told Socialist Worker, "This is the first time the members had any say on the suspensions. "It is a clear rejection the centralised control of the union and a fear on the part of our members that our leaders are not listening to us - the people on the bottom. "The fight is on for the ATGWU. very soul of the ATGWU. Some union leaders seem to forget that our union's antipartnership stance was decided by a ballot of our members and can only be changed by the membership." "We need a fighting vibrant union to defend our members against the bosses attacks and a union which will be capable of unionising the thousands of unor-ganised workers throughout ganised Ireland

"This election is the first step in that process." Jimmy Kelly says a big "Thank You" to all who helped and supported him in the election campaign and to all who voted for him.

Teachers

A NATIONAL postal strike could begin on 6 March, union leaders announced last week. Talks are still continuing, but the union says that if there is no agreement then strike dates have been "pencilled in".

Postal Workers

However, Communica-tion Workers Union (CWU) tion Workers Union (CWO) members will have to press hard to make sure their union leaders do not fudge together a bad deal before then or call only token action.

The immediate cause of the dispute is pay. Royal Mail has offered just 2 per-

Battle for supervision pay starts in earnest

The ASTI leadership is showing a willingness to enter talks with the govern-ment on this issue in direct contravention of a motion passed at last year's annual Union militants worried pay claim is settled.

In a boost to those who want to see a united fight on teachers' pay, Paddy Healy was recently elected vice president of the TUI. Healy, president of the 101 neary, a prominent campaigner against benchmarking and a supporter of last year's ASTI campaign of industri-al action was voted in with a substantial majority. The turn out was unusually high.

strike action to get better wages. At the moment Royal Mail are offering workers 2%, against the unions modest claim of 5%. Most postal workers are on a basic wage of around £250 a week before tax. Around 60 percent of delivery work-ers are on a six-day week, and 20,000 postal workers regularly work more than 48 hours a week.

hours a week. Workers are already fighting the union leadership to make sure that they do not sell the workers out.

Action

Already the CWU lead ership are trying to avert the action with only some token actions by a few workers in select areas.But the anger of the postal workers is show-ing with the amount of walkouts and wildcat strikes across the UK by workers who are fed up with the current regime. In south-east England workers walked out for two hours after some workers were sacked by manage-

Following the murder of Daniel McColgan postal workers in the North are

Students

ON 19TH Feb., over 500 students from across Northern Ireland converged on Stormont to show their anger about student poverty and tuition fees.

The protests coincided with the release of a national report suggesting that students would be better off on the dole than in university. Chris from Jordanstown "I came here today to show the Stormont executive that we are not taking any more oran We have a cimple more crap. We have a simple message for them: we want free education now, not excuses. I don't want to leave univer-sity at the end of the year with a £10,000 debt over my head, those guys in there didn't have to - so why should we.

The rally was addressed by Carmel Hanna, the Min-ister responsible for the stu-dent fees, but her speech was drowned out by chants and heckles from the crowd. One student told Social-ist Worker, "I'm extremely angry and bitter, the people standing on that stage today aren't going to do anything about our poverty except to breathe hot air and try and win some of the student vote." vote

Already, across Britain, Already, across Britain, non-payment campaigns have started up and have proved successful; occupa-tions have stopped Univer-sities from victimising stu-dents that have refused to pay fees they cannot afford. Northern campuses need to sten their protests un a to step their protests up a gear against the tuition fees and student poverty.

or less dormant. Conservative right-wing branch secretaries are against change in the union and can exclude members from attending Conference if they fail to advertise the AGM. Last year a motion at conference called for all members to be consulted on Information members to be consulted on what pay rise the union should be pushing for. Despite bitter opposition from the leadership of Nipsa, the motion tabled by Branch 8 (Child Support Agency) was passed. How-ever many large branches did not hold pay; meetings thus failing to give all mem-hers a chance to decide their It is because of these conditions and poor flow of information to ordinary members that 'The Not So and Northern Ireland.

ly.

bers a chance to decide their pay, this resulted in Nipsa accepting a derisory pay increase. Branch 8 (the largest in Nipsa with 1000 this week. This newsletter has been written by rank and file workers and will The mood for change in file strategy gives opportu-nity to build resistance.

Civil Servant' was launched request contributions from

ly. This year TfC must ensure that every branch holds pay meetings if it is to fight for real pay rises.

NIPSA is clear a rank and

Refuse Charges Campaign organises against Corpo threats

MEETINGS LARGE have taken place in near-ly every comer of the Dublin City Council area in response to threats of legal action against householders who have refused to pay the bin charges.

Finglas over 200 attended a public meet-ing. In East Wall over 150 150 locals turned out. In Ballyfermot 160 people turned up to join the campaign and to discuss how to organise against this unjust form of double taxation. Large meetings have also taken place in Cabra, Donnycarney, Crumlin, Drimnagh and Inchicore. More are Inchicore.

planned for the weeks ahead. Letters sent to thou-Letters sent to thou-sands of households notified householders that they will be pursued through the Courts for costs and for payment of the Bin Tax.

Issued

Before the legar threats were sent out over 70 percent of householders had refused to pay this new waste management which is now waste management charge which is now 120.43 euros for the year 2001, Bills for 2002 have yet to be issued. Brid Smith.

spokesperson for the Campaign Against the Bin Tax has said "The response to the threatening letters has been a double edged sword. A minority of people have been panicked into pay-ing the tax.

But many many more households have signed up to the campaign to oppose the tax. And this follows a trend in many parts of the country where neople are begin where people are begin-ning to organise against the waste management policy of their local councils. cils." According to Brid Smith "The Campaign Against the Bin Tax Is inundated with requests from residents all around Dublin to join the cam-paign and to get organ-ised in their communities. This is yet another sign of how the politicians are completely out of tauch completely out of touch with working class peo-

Disgusted

"We are utterly dis-gusted with a system which demands that we pay twice for normal ser-vices. Workers are already taxed to the hilt while tax amnesties are given out regularly to those who fail to pay their share. Instead of pursu-ing those who pay most ing those who pay most taxes through the Courts, our justice system would serve us better if the law pursued the hundreds of rich and powerful who have dodged paying their share of taxes. We should not forget the Anshackar account hold should not forget the Ansbacher account hold-ers, the DIRT tax account holders the Golden Circle who owe millions in taxes to this society. It is not only Liam Lawlor who should be in prison." The Campaign Against the Bin Tax is organising a Dublin-wide conference in the city on Saturday Standard and the standard and campaign has a legal defence fund organised for any of its members who may be pursued through the courts and will mount major demon- Court cases which may strations outside any take place.

Sligo council have privatised their refuse service. In what is becoming a theme Noel Dempsey threatened to abolish the council and the councillors then voted to privatise. Yet again the introduction of service charges has led to privatisation. But residents of one of the estates in the town have voted to keep the refuse service under the control of the local authority. In a plebiscite in Rathedmond estate, a total of 104 out of 105 opposed privatisation and have handed in a letter of protest to the Ombudsman and the town clerk. Sligo council have privatised their refuse

"Residents expressed indignation and anger

"Hesidents expressed indignation and anger that the council proceeded to collude with local pri-vate companies to create a cartel, which will mean that residents are being locked into a business rela-tionship with a monopoly", said residents' associa-tion spokesman, Jim O'Sullivan. "This will lead to overcharging."

ment

sors will receive is actually e8 more than the part-time hourly teaching rate that many teachers earn. The ASTI leadership is convention.

by the prospect of a leader-ship sell out have called a meeting of the 180 strong Central Executive Committee to reaffirm the union's commitment to no further talks on supervision and substitution until the ASTI's

The ASTI was given a boost when the TUI, the other secondary teachers union, indicated that they

THE BAN on supervision and substi-tution by ASTI teachers is due to come into place on March 4. members) held a meeting of every member and rejected all 3 pay offers unanimous-posts and an army of untrained, inadequately vet-ted supervisors are due to enter schools on this date.

The government claims that there has been a phe-nomenal response to the advertisements for these would not do supervisory work with unqualified peo-ple. The government's contingency measures actually highlight the problem of low pay in teaching that ASTI members have been campaigning on for so long. The hourly rate of €34that the unqualified supervi-cent. The union's modest claim is 5 percent.Workers voted two to one to stage

Indicated

Socialist Worke (01) 8722682 http://www.clubi.ie/swp swp@clubi.ie For a Workers' Republic and International Socialism

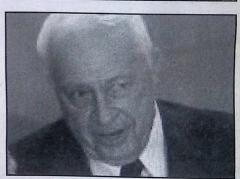

US threatens war on Iraq

Henry Kissinger — page 6 Palestine — page 4

GEORGE BUSH has lit the fuse for war on Iraq, a war that will kill thousands of innocent people.

The bombing of Afghanistan has been horrific, killing more civilians than died in the World Trade Centre. War against Iraq will be far worse.

"Saddam Hussein needs to under-stand I'm serious," said Bush last week. Bush's Secretary of State, Colin Powell, the supposed restraint on him, wants a "regime change" in Iraq. US and British planes have stepped up their bombing of Iraqi air defences. Thousands of marines and other com-bat reach trans are marine into the bat-ready troops are moving into the region.

The commander of marine forces for the US central command has moved his head quarters from Florida to Bahrain, within striking range of Iraq. Commanders for the army, navy and air force are already there

Over 1,000 military command and control personnel are in locations in the Persian Gulf, where they would be in position to coordinate larger forces in position to coordinate larger forces of combat troops. The US government will soon demand that nuclear inspectors are allowed back into Iraq. If Saddam Hussein refuses the humiliating terms on offer then Bush will demand war. The US also wants harsher eco-nomic sanctions, more inhumane than the ones which have already killed 500,000 Iraqi children. Bush is touring Japan, South Korea and China to win their support for the new firestorm.

new firestorm.

His vice-president, Dick Cheney, is off soon to the Middle East on the off soon to the Middle East on the same mission. Bush and his supporters are involved in a bloody conspiracy to kill in the interests of US power and the profits of big business. As Bush put it in his own special way recently, "We need to be able to send our troops to the battlefields and places that many of us never thought there'd be a battlefield."

That is why he has increased his military budget to a staggering $396 billion.

What Bush has done to Afghanistan is supposed to be a success. Yet it is in such turmoil that last week the new tourism minister, Abdul Rahman, was pulled from a plane and beaten to death by Northern Alliance security personnel.

British Paratroopers opened fire on a car carrying a pregnant woman to hospital last weekend, injuring her and killing her brother in law. They started shooting at 1.45am from a range of 1,000 metres.

The soldiers are from the regiment that murdered people on Bloody Sun-day 30 years ago inIreland. There is no shining new dawn for Afghanistan. Instead there is malnutrition, chaos, and a man's guts shot away for driving a woman to hospital.